RED CHINA REJECTS TRUCE IDEA

$286 Stolen From Coroner's Office

Warning Given That Formosa Will Be Taken

Communists Declare They Will Strike Back If America Interferes

LONDON (AP)—Communist China rejected today any suggestion of a cease-fire with the Nationalists and warned she would "strike back with heavy blows" if American forces try to stop her from taking Formosa.

Peiping radio in a broadcast heard here termed the idea of a Formosa cease-fire "absolutely unacceptable" and declared:

"We are determined to liberate Taiwan (Formosa). If the U. S. armed forces dare to attack us, we will firmly strike back with heavy blows."

President Eisenhower already has pledged to use American forces to protect the Formosa stronghold of Chiang Kai-shek and the neighboring Pescadore Islands against Communist attack.

The broadcast, quoting an article in the Peoples' Daily, an organ of the Red Chinese government, said:

"The so-called cease-fire between the Chinese people and the Chiang Kai-shek traitors, planned by the U. S. government and its followers is absolutely unacceptable. The Chinese people must eliminate the traitorous Chiang clique."

"Taiwan (Formosa) is territory stolen by that clique and it must be liberated by the Chinese people. There is no cease-fire to discuss."

THE BROADCAST was the first Red Chinese comment since worldwide moves yesterday to arrange a cease-fire between the Communist regime and the Nationalist government. But the radio has been blasting the idea of a cease-fire since Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said in a statement last Monday that his government would not agree to such a move.

The U. N. Security Council plans to meet Monday to consider a cease-fire debate. The Council is expected to ask the Chinese Communists to attend if such a discussion is arranged.

Woman's Body Found In Snow Is Identified

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police today know the identity of a woman whose nude body was found beside a snowy Medina County road Wednesday morning. Now they want to know who left her there and what caused her death.

The dead woman was Mrs. Florence Barrett, 42, of Cleveland. Miss Patricia Kaze, niece of Mrs. Barrett, said she and Mrs. Barrett went out together Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Barrett was unemployed about six years.

She was looking for a job, her niece said, adding: "About eight that night she telephoned me from the place on the corner of her street and told me whom she was with."

Police learned, however, that she was not with the man named but had been in a tavern until 9:30 p. m. Tuesday and made a phone call from there.

Dr. Lester Adelson, deputy coroner, said all tests and examinations so far have failed to show any disease or injury that could have caused death.

Medina County Sheriff Charles W. Williams was investigating a report Mrs. Barrett was seen there later with two men.

Williams was to come here today to try to trace a telephone call one of the men is supposed to have placed to Cleveland from a Medina pay station.

Dr. Lester Adelson, deputy coroner, said all tests and examinations so far have failed to show any disease or injury that could have caused death.

Following the night of the Mothers March on Polio, the Friday morning coffee contribution served to send the local March of Dimes into its closing days with high enthusiasm. Mothers March contributions in Circleville totaled an even $2,000, and final tabulation of all the township efforts for the same cause has yet to be made.

Woman Rancher's Death 'Mistake'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Two men, one a former son-in-law, today were charged with murder in the slaying of Mrs. Harry E. Weaver, wealthy Texas ranch woman.

Police arrested the former son-in-law, Harry L. Washburn, 38; and Carlton Henneger, 37, both of Houston. Mrs. Weaver was killed by mistake. They said the bomb planted in the car was meant for her husband, a noted Texas architect.

No Narcotics Or Equipment Appears Taken

Money Represents Personal Property In Coroner's Care

Local authorities continued their investigation Saturday of the theft of $286.68 from the office of Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Ray Carroll.

The money was part of personal effects left in Dr. Carroll's possession as property in custody of the coroner. In addition to the money, a pocket watch and knife were also listed as missing. Entry apparently was gained by breaking a downstairs bathroom window. The office is located at 121 N. Pickaway St.

Dr. Carroll estimated the time of the break-in at sometime early Thursday evening. He noted that the bathroom fixtures were well frozen over, indicating the window had been open for some time.

NO NARCOTICS or surgical implements were missing, the doctor pointed out. Because nothing else appeared to be disturbed, city police believe that the person or persons "knew exactly what they were after."

The money and personal effects were in sealed envelopes in a file cabinet in the office, Dr. Carroll said.

Experts from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, located at the London Prison Farm, were immediately summoned. They went over the entire office thoroughly, police said.

Dr. Carroll explained how the personal effects came into his possession. As county coroner, he must determine cause of death when another physician is not in attendance at the time.

After doing so, all the personal effects are placed in the custody of the coroner until properly released. The doctor said the money taken represented an accumulation of several recent cases.

POLICE POINT OUT several odd angles to the theft. First, they explained, not many persons were aware of the amount of money being kept in Dr. Carroll's office.

Second, nothing other than the money appeared to have been disturbed. Police theorize that the break-in was well "cased."

Police did not reveal whether they had tangible clues with which to work.

Rubinstein Case Stumps Detectives

NEW YORK (AP)—A patrol of more than 20 detectives scoured East Side night club areas for the second day in an effort to pick up some clues in the mystery-slaying of Serge Rubinstein, playboy and convicted drug dodger.

After issuing an official statement saying "we're up against a blank wall," authorities again sent out detectives early today. They sought information on who might have seen 46-year-old Rubinstein the night before he was strangled in his palatial Fifth Avenue home.

Solons To Hold Hearings Backing 5th Super Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy's plans to build a fifth super aircraft carrier will get a formal hearing in the House Armed Services Committee as a move, two members said, to support its request for funds for the vessel.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said the Navy already has authorization to build the carrier, but a recommendation by his committee "at least will be moral support" when the money request goes before the House Appropriations Committee headed by Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.).

Rep. Short (R-Mo.), ranking GOP member of the Armed Services Committee, said one purpose of the new hearing is to offset the stand of Cannon, who he said is now strongly opposed to the Navy's request.

Cannon said in a separate interview he is taking no position on the Navy request until it is brought to his committee. He declined to comment on Short's statement.

The Navy asked yesterday for a new general authorization for a fleet of 10 million tons, replacing a series of old authorizations many of which are now obsolete.

THE IDEA IS to modernize the authorizations, rather than to increase the total tonnage.

Vinson said he plans hearings.

Chill To Continue During Weekend

Canton, Columbus Airport See Sub-Zero Temperature Readings

COLUMBUS (AP)—Winter's cold grip won't relax in Ohio this weekend. The weather bureau predicts continued cold and more snow. State highways were reported generally slippery.

The weather bureau said Ohio can expect temperatures no higher than 18 above today with the mercury dropping near zero again tonight. Some snow flurries were forecast for the northeast. Fire and cold deaths continued to mount.

In Cincinnati, retired machinist Andrew Miller, 57, yesterday suffered a fatal heart attack while shoveling snow at his home.

The Queen City also reported a supertime traffic tieup last night as a thick snow settled on the city. Although only one or two inches of snow fell, traffic had difficulty climbing many of the city's hills.

Capt. Guy York, superintendent of the city's highway safety bureau, said the traffic congestion was "bogged down" as badly as he ever had seen it.

AMONG LATEST fire deaths reported as the freezing weather clung to the state was 11-year-old Mary Craft of Columbus. She burned to death last night when flames from an oil stove set fire to a bedroom.

The weather bureau reported Canton was among the coldest spots in the state last night. It had one below. At sunrise today the Columbus airport also registered -1.

Throughout the eastern half of the nation, there appeared little hope of general relief over the weekend.

Fresh blasts of icy air from northwest Canada sent temperatures tumbling to subzero levels during the night throughout the Midwest and across sections of the Northeast. It was freezing in wide areas of the South.

Brisk winds from the Northwest, bringing in fresh masses of arctic air, was blamed for the prolonged cold snap in the Midwest.

There wasn't much snow in the cold belt during the night. But fresh falls were forecast today for North Central regions which already have several inches of snow.

At least nine persons have died from causes attributed to the cold and snow since Thursday. There were three deaths in Michigan, three in Ohio, two in St. Louis and one in Chicago.

Light snow fell during the night in the eastern and northern Great Lakes region into the northern Appalachians. There were flurries southward in Tennessee.

CHICAGO'S HIGH reading yesterday was 10 above but the mercury was -6 at 2 a. m. today.

New York and Minnesota reported lowest readings yesterday. Saranac Lake and Forestport, in New York's Adirondacks, reported unofficial lows of -38. The minimum reading in Minnesota was -26 at International Falls, which late last night reported -12.

Temperatures stayed under the 10-degree mark yesterday from the eastern Dakotas to the western Great Lakes region and across northern New England.

The far Southwest corner of the country had mild weather with readings in the 70s. It was 80 at Los Angeles and 74 at Phoenix, Ariz. Temperatures in the 60s prevailed in Florida and Southern Texas with a 65 at San Antonio and a 68 at Miami.

The line representing highs of 40 stretched from North Carolina westward across Tennessee to Oklahoma and northwest into Montana, where Billings reported a mild 48.

Temperatures generally were in the 30s and 40s over most of the northern and Central Rockies. Fairly mild winter weather continued along the Pacific Coast.

Dem Senators Contend Ike Move Recognizes Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Senate Democrats contended today the Eisenhower administration may be risking U. N. recognition of Communist China by encouraging the international organization to seek a cease-fire in Formosa Strait.

Sens. Sparkman (D-Ala.), Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Douglas (D-Ill.) said the administration's support of New Zealand's call for Security Council discussion of the issue Monday represents a distinct change in American policy.

They said this action indicates abandonment of what Sparkman called the "myth" that Chinese Nationalists under Chiang Kai-shek will ever invade the continent, and constitutes recognition of "Two Chinas."

But they and other senators locked with favor on the general idea of U. N. action toward halting the threat to peace in the Formosa area. They expressed themselves both in interviews and in Senate debate on a resolution supporting President Eisenhower's fight-if-we-must stand.

JUST BEFORE the resolution was passed by an 85-3 vote last night, Humphrey introduced another resolution to put the Senate on record in favor of a cease-fire.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he thought there would be little opposition to this. He said his committee might act on it early next week.

George said the resolution which the Senate passed put this country in "a position of strength and not vacillation" at the U. N. conference table on this issue.

Sparkman, who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Far Eastern subcommittee, said he regards it as "inevitable" that the Peiping regime will be admitted to the U. N. over American protests within two years.

"This move involves recognition on our part of the existence of a China on the mainland," Sparkman said. "It means the administration has come to the belief that we must look toward the existence of two Chinas."

'Coffee Day' Boosts Final Polio Efforts

Restaurants and lunch rooms throughout the city joined Friday in the "Coffee Day for Polio" program—serving coffee free to customers who, instead of paying for it, gave the money to the March of Dimes. A total of $80.44 was raised in this manner.

The arrangement, whereby the district's well established "coffee break" lends its support to the drive against polio, has now become a traditional part of the annual effort.

However, no complete listing of the participating places was made available for publication in advance. Reports were that virtually every eating establishment took part in the plan.

Following the night of the Mothers March on Polio, the Friday morning coffee contribution served to send the local March of Dimes into its closing days with high enthusiasm. Mothers March contributions in Circleville totaled an even $2,000, and final tabulation of all the township efforts for the same cause has yet to be made.

$286 Stolen From Coroner's Office

Money Represents Personal Property In Coroner's Care

Local authorities continued their investigation Saturday of the theft of $286.68 from the office of Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Ray Carroll.

The money was part of personal effects left in Dr. Carroll's possession as property in custody of the coroner. In addition to the money, a pocket watch and knife were also listed as missing.

Ohio Irrigation Practice Seen On Increase

COLUMBUS (AP)—An agricultural expert predicts a rapid increase in irrigating on Ohio farms as agriculture competes in an expanding demand for land.

Lloyd E. Partain, agricultural relations director for the Curtis Publishing Co., says irrigation will increase "by leaps and bounds" as this country attempts to feed millions more mouths in the next few years with little increase in farm acreage.

Partain told the annual meeting of the Ohio Forestry Assn. here yesterday that irrigation has expanded rapidly in the last two or three years as agriculture competes for land with urbanization, industrial expansion and highway construction.

The association made public a 140-page report calling for 14 water shed developments in Ohio, of which the Upper Hocking watershed project in Fairfield County would be a miniature model.

The report called the watershed "the logical unit" in which municipalities and counties can solve common problems of water storage and flood control by concerted action.

"showdown" session on the Community Chest idea.

The idea would seek to merge most or all of the fund-raising activities for this district. Organized steps toward the plan began recently at a meeting sponsored by the Circleville Chamber of Commerce.

THE MEETING next week will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Ashville-Harrison High School building.

Boosters for the Community Chest proposal have emphasized from the beginning that the organization, if officially launched here, should operate on a county-wide scale.

Thus it was pointed out the Ashville meeting "might turn out to be an explanatory meeting" for county residents who have yet to learn all the main details of the Chest plan.

The steering committee also hopes to get at least a partial report Wednesday night from a committee formed to "sound out" the various fund-raising agencies in the district. This important committee has the job of listing those organizations which indicate they would be willing to join a Community Chest.

Also at the Wednesday meeting, a report is scheduled from a group assigned to draw up a proposed constitution and set of by-laws. Decisions reached by this committee so far may be the basis for discussion during the Ashville gathering.

Communists Declare They Will Strike Back If America Interferes

LONDON (AP)—Communist China rejected today any suggestion of a cease-fire with the Nationalists and warned she would "strike back with heavy blows" if American forces try to stop her from taking Formosa.

Peiping radio in a broadcast heard here termed the idea of a Formosa cease-fire "absolutely unacceptable" and declared:

"We are determined to liberate Taiwan (Formosa). If the U. S. armed forces dare to attack us, we will firmly strike back with heavy blows."

President Eisenhower already has pledged to use American forces to protect the Formosa stronghold of Chiang Kai-shek and the neighboring Pescadore Islands against Communist attack.

The broadcast, quoting an article in the Peoples' Daily, an organ of the Red Chinese government, said:

"The so-called cease-fire between the Chinese people and the Chiang Kai-shek traitors, planned by the U.S. government and its followers is absolutely unacceptable. The Chinese people must eliminate the traitorous Chiang clique."

"Taiwan (Formosa) is territory stolen by that clique and it must be liberated by the Chinese people. There is no cease-fire to discuss."

THE BROADCAST was the first Red Chinese comment since worldwide moves yesterday to arrange a cease-fire between the Communist regime and the Nationalist government. But the radio has been blasting the idea of a cease-fire since Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said in a statement last Monday that his government would not agree to such a move.

The U.N. Security Council plans to meet Monday to consider a cease-fire debate. The Council is expected to ask the Chinese Communists to attend if such a discussion is arranged.

Woman's Body Found In Snow Is Identified

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police today know the identity of a woman whose nude body was found beside a snowy Medina County road Wednesday morning. Now they want to know who left her there and what caused her death.

The dead woman was Mrs. Florence Barrett, 42, of Cleveland.

Miss Patricia Kaze, niece of Mrs. Barrett, said she and Mrs. Barrett went out together Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Barrett was unemployed about six years.

She was looking for a job, her niece said, adding:

"About eight that night she telephoned me from the place on the corner of her street and told me whom she was with."

Police learned, however, that she was not with the man named but had been in a tavern until 9:30 p. m. Tuesday and made a phone call from there.

Medina County Sheriff Charles W. Williams was investigating a report Mrs. Barrett was seen there later with two men.

Williams was to come here today to try to trace a telephone call one of the men is supposed to have placed to Cleveland from a Medina pay station.

Dr. Lester Adelson, deputy coroner, said all tests and examinations so far have failed to show any disease or injury that could have caused death.

Union Urging Assembly Give Workers Break

CIO Says Legislature Gave Employers Lush Boost During 1953

COLUMBUS (AP)—The CIO says that the Ohio Legislature gave employers a $50 million break in 1953 and that this is the year to give the workers a break.

The union placed an "initiated" measure before the current General Assembly to boost maximum unemployment compensation payments from $30 a week for 26 weeks to $50 for 39 weeks and provide other benefits.

Experts in the state tax department estimated the proposals would cost about 47 millions a year.

Jacob Clayman, veteran secretary-treasurer of the Ohio CIO Council, said that would be only fair.

"The cut in tax rates granted the employers at the last session of the Legislature on payments to the unemployment compensation fund," he asserted, "will total approximately $50 million dollars (for 1954) and would more than cover the changes we seek."

Legislators two years ago eased payments into the unemployment compensation trust fund by companies with good employment records and allowed them credit for interest earned by the fund. At that time the resulting tax reduction was estimated at 30 millions.

Companies with three or more employees pay into the fund at the rate of $27 for each $1,000 or their annual payroll unless they earn a lower merit rating.

Latest U.S. treasury reports said Ohio's trust account stood at nearly $14 million. During the final quarter of last year the account earned more than $34 million dollars, based on a 2.27 per cent interest rate.

Two years ago the Legislature increased jobless benefits from 26 a week to $30 for 26 weeks. Unionists who had asked for more said that wasn't enough.

As a result the CIO undertook a drive to place this year's requests directly before the Legislature. The union obtained nearly 100,000 signatures to petitions requiring the Legislature to receive the initiated bill. The measure came in last Jan. 17.

CIO petitions needed qualified signatures equal to 3 per cent of the 1954 statewide vote for governor, a total of 77,934.

Legislators usually introduce bills. But they must receive proposals initiated by petition. If they fail to act on an initiated measure within four months, or change it to the dissatisfaction of the sponsor, the proposal could go on election ballots for a final decision by voters.

Election officials, who check validity of names, said the CIO would need another 77,934 valid signatures from voters who did not sign the first petitions to win a place on ballots.

Clayman indicate in a statement that such a campaign would be undertaken if necessary. "Although we have filed enough signatures to comply with the law, thousands of other Ohioans also have indicated their desire for a liberalization of the present law," he said.

James P. Griffin, Ohio CIO Council president, expressed the hope such a costly campaign would not be needed.

"We hope the legislature," he said, "will treat our request for a more adequate law sympathetically and understandingly so it will not be necessary for us to go back to the people for more signatures and place this question on the ballot."

Some members of the Republican-controlled Legislature have quietly expressed a desire to "let the measure lie" so it could go to a vote of the people. Others are pressing for passage.

Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche termed the new proposals "fantastic." He called for changes giving benefits to workers' regular weekly earnings and a uniform ceiling of 26 weeks for all eligible compensation claimants.

Besides higher benefits and longer payment periods, the CIO wants the $5 a week maximum allowance for dependent children lifted to $9. Another proposal by the CIO would:

"Eliminate indiscriminate appeals on the part of employers by providing an additional award of one to three weeks of compensation to those jobless workers wronged by unnecessary employer appeals and place the burden of proof on the appellant rather than always upon the claimant, as is now the case."

Three state representatives have introduced another jobless benefit bill they said embodied views of both the Ohio CIO and AFL.

Sponsors are Reps. Francis F. Reno (D-Lucas), a CIO attorney, G. D. Tablack (D-Mahoning) and George R. Madden (D-Summit), Akron rubber worker.

They said the measure included the CIO initiated bill proposals and other changes to "soften some of the harsh disqualification features of the jobless benefit law and extend its coverage to farm hands, public employees and some domestic servants."

British Dislike Central Heating

By ALVIN STEINKOPF (For Hal Boyle)

LONDON (AP)—The British are always ready to explain at length what is wrong with central heating.

They don't have much of it, and seem determined not to have any more.

Central heating, in case the term is unfamiliar means, the process of heating your house with a furnace.

There are icebergs in the bath room. That perverse water pipe on the outside wall of the house has burst again, and when the faucet is turned in the kitchen nothing happens.

Despite all this the British householder argues that central heating isn't necessary because Britain has a temperate climate. It doesn't get very cold except in the winter time. Why make an engine room out of the basement just on account of one season?

Besides, it is only an exceptional winter that gets cold. When it is pointed out that every winter since the Norman conquest back in 1066 has been exceptional.

tives in Moscow and Peiping called on Soviet and Red Chinese leaders to urge support for the idea.

London's ambassador to Russia, Sir William Hayter, also asked Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to restrain Peiping.

Moscow radio later quoted Molotov as saying that the Kremlin would take the request under consideration. But he said the United States was largely responsible for the Far Eastern tension and declared that America must "end its aggressive actions in the area of Formosa."

British Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden also took the occasion of a political speech in Warwick, England to urge Red China to join in cease-fire talks. He pledged fair consideration of Peiping's case.

The Red Chinese have made one appearance in the U. N.—in 1950 during debate on the Korean War.

New Zealand yesterday called the meeting of the 11-nation council. The United States and Britain both backed the call. But only Britain publicly supported New Zealand on the proposed invitation.

Diplomatic sources said Nationalist China probably would abstain on the debate proposal and vote against the invitation and the United States probably would vote "yes" on both. They added they could not forecast the Soviet votes but expected all other delegations would support both moves.

Both Nationalist China and the Soviet Union—like the United States, Britain and France—can veto proposals classed as "substantive." But these sources said the bid to invite the Chinese Communists would be ruled merely "procedural," and so no veto would be possible.

The proposed cease-fire would apply to Nationalist-held islands near the Chinese mainland which Congress has authorized President Eisenhower to protect with U. S. forces if he deems them essential to the defense of Nationalist-held Formosa and the Pescadores.

Coca-Cola Begins Sales Experiment

Henry L. Reid, local manager for The Coca-Cola Company, outlined Friday a trade test arrangement under which 10-ounce bottles of the product have been put on sale in Columbus while the drink in Cincinnati is still sold in bottles of the customary six-ounce size.

He explained that a proportionately higher price will be charged for the larger bottles in Columbus, and that the 10-ounce bottles will not be available here. For purpose of a sales study being made by the firm, he said, the 10-ounce bottles are being sold only in two of the nation's cities—Columbus and Boston.

In connection with the same test, family-size bottles will be put on sale in Springfield, Mass., and several cities of California. The experiment is being conducted to enable the company to study marketing techniques and consumer surveys.

Fire Claims 2 More In Family

CLEVELAND (AP)—Fire in a second story home killed two more youngsters early today. Two others died in a similar blaze yesterday.

They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Delius Brown. Their father smelled smoke while watching television with neighbors in a downstairs apartment. He was unable to rescue the youngsters.

Cause of the fire was not learned immediately.

President Signs Measure OKing War Powers

Eisenhower Declares Resolution Evidence Of Anti-Red Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed the resolution for defense of Formosa, asserting it is evidence of united American determination to "resist Communist aggression" in an area "vital to the security" of the United States.

The President signed in the presence of congressional leaders and Secretary of State Dulles less than 12 hours after the Senate OK'd the resolution on an 85-3 vote.

The action cleared the way for Eisenhower to use American armed forces, notably the 7th Fleet, against any Red Chinese attack directed toward Formosa.

It also gives him authority to order the armed forces to evacuate Chinese Nationalist troops from the Tachen Islands.

Piled on a previous 409-3 House count, the Senate action gave a 494-6 congressional backing for a measure supporters said was aimed at keeping the peace but which critics contended might set off World War III.

Also included was authority to defend "related" areas, such as the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, with the possibility of strikes at the mainland if Communists mass there for an attack on Formosa.

Only Sens. Langer (R-ND), Lehman (D-Lib-NY), and Morse (Ind-Ore) voted "no" on final passage. They said they did so because of this latter provision.

EISENHOWER'S signing of his fight-if-we-must policy was expected to touch off a Nationalist withdrawal from the menaced, Tachen Islands and lay bare Communist China's aims for peace or war.

The removal of 30,000 troops and civilians from the Tachens, 200 miles north of Formosa and only 18 miles from the Red China mainland, could begin any time.

U. S. and Nationalist military teams have completed plans. A mighty U. S. 7th Fleet of 100 or more warships built around at least four aircraft carriers is in position to protect the withdrawal.

Swift U. S. F36 Sabrejets, the master of Communist jets during the Korean War, sit at combat ready on Formosa and Okinawa.

Long range bombers are deployed at a string of U. S. bases from Alaska to the Philippines.

The new U. S. policy for Formosa permits President Eisenhower to act on his own decision.

He can order U. S. military forces to fight for the protection of Formosa, the Pescadores and "related positions and territories."

The latter could include Nationalist island outposts close to the Chinese mainland, such as Quemoy and Matsu.

Chinese Red artillery on newly-captured Yikiangshan Island is within range of the Tachens.

The Reds have thrown air strikes against the Tachens mounted by as many as 200 planes, including MIG15 jets.

Intelligence sources have estimated the Communists have as many as 1,500 warplanes at mainland bases within striking distance of the Tachens.

Supporting them are 400,000 battle-tested Communist troops and surface forces in the two coastal provinces of Chekiang and Fukien opposite Formosa, according to Nationalist intelligence officers.

U. S. To Offer 40-Year Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury has announced it will issue a 40-year bond Feb. 1, a move officially signaling confidence that the business downturn has ended.

The ultra-long-term issue is the longest since the 50-year bond of 1911 to pay for the Panama Canal. The interest rate will be 3 per cent, the same interest lenders got for the Canal issue.

It was a fourth per cent below the rate on a 30-year bond the Treasury issued in April 1953 as the first (and until now only) single long stride in the Eisenhower administration's announced policy of putting more of the public debt into long-term issues.

Danish Premier Dies In Stockholm

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Danish Premier Hans Hedtoft died today at the Grand Hotel here.

Hedtoft, leader of Denmark's Social Democrat party, was in Stockholm for the third session of the Nordic Council.

Death reportedly was due to a heart attack.

Hedtoft began his present term as premier in September, 1953, following his party's victory in a parliamentary election. He previously had served as premier several times.

The colony of New York had a population of 180,000 on July 9, 1776, when it declared its independence from Great Britain.

A. A. Greeno, Former Local Official, Dies

Arthur Allen Greeno, of 1002 S. High St., Columbus, a former public official here, died Friday at his home. He was 78.

Mr. Greeno in past years served as Pickaway County recorder and Circleville city solicitor. He also taught in the Pickaway County schools.

Mr. Greeno was born June 21, 1876, in Stoutsville, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Greeno. At the time of his death, he was a retired restaurant operator, having had his restaurant at Main and Front Sts. in Columbus.

Surviving him are his wife, Lennie Greeno; two daughters, Miss Rosemary Greeno of the home and Mrs. Hazel Thornton of Circleville; four sons, Paul, Eugene, James and Alan, all of Columbus; three grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Monday in the Schoedinger Hilltop Chapel, 2542 W. Broad St., Columbus. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery, Circleville.

Friends may call in the chapel after 7 p. m. Saturday.

Chillicothe Man Killed Instantly In Odd Mishap

The body of a graveyard worker killed instantly Friday was returned to a Chillicothe funeral home.

Henry John Lochbaum, 62, of Chillicothe Route 6, died apparently from a broken neck, according to Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Ray Carroll. He was pinned in a Jackson Township Cemetery grave when a vault he was unloading apparently slipped.

Lochbaum's death is the third accidental one in the county in less than a week, all within a radius of six miles from Circleville and all in different directions. The other two were traffic fatalities.

Described by the Sterling Vault Co. of Chillicothe as one of its most careful workers, Lochbaum was preparing to slide the estimated 1,500-pound cement vault into a grave. As it was being rolled down planks by Lochbaum, it apparently slipped out of control and knocked him into the grave.

THE INCIDENT was seen from Route 104, a short distance away, by a passing truck driver. The driver notified another motorist, who turned out to be John Dewey, a former Pickaway County deputy sheriff now living in Columbus. Dewey called Sheriff Charles Radcliff.

The grave was being prepared for a 2 p. m. funeral for Miss Jennie Reid. The accident occurred shortly after noon.

The scene of the mishap is approximately six miles northwest of Circleville on Route 104.

$8 Million Needed For Ohio Highways

COLUMBUS (AP)—Highway planners say they can speed Ohio's road building if another $8 million is appropriated in time to buy rights-of-way before July 1.

Members of the Legislature expressed belief that an emergency appropriation will receive swift approval to pep construction under an authorized $500 million program.

Reps. Robert F. Reckman (R-Hamilton) and Frank M. Gorman (D-Cuyahoga) are sponsors of a bill to make money available.

The measure would appropriate money realized from an $8 million bond issue for land purchases already approved by the State Highway Construction Council.

The bond issue would be in addition to $30 million already issued and sold to get the big road program underway.

Clingan Jackson of Youngstown, council chairman, said the land purchases are needed for the 1956-57 road building program that starts next July.

He explained that the 1958-59 construction program would include provision for land purchases and would not require another bond issue specifically for that purpose.

John F. Heier, chief engineer of the highway department's Bureau of Planning and Programming, said about 25 of the first 30 million dollars available for construction has been spent or encumbered.

He said road building plans were developed during the last year to the point where rights-of-way can be purchased. Failure to buy the necessary land before July 1, Heier explained, would delay construction.

Following is a breakdown of part of the sums designated for land purchases and their routes:

Pickaway County: Route 22, $5,000; Route 62, $3,000.

Hocking County: Route 32, $3,500.

Governor Lauds Ike's Formosa Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche told President Eisenhower yesterday he believes the American people are "uniformly" behind the President's stand on Formosa.

Lausche is here for a civil defense conference. He told reporters at the White House:

"I expressed my elation over the acceptance the public has uniformly made to his stand on Formosa. I told him that in my opinion the public thinks he is doing everything he possibly can to keep the country out of war."

Lausche said the President expressed gratification at his report.

Groups Back Bill To Hit Talky Phoners

Ten organizations have already endorsed the "Party Line Emergency" telephone bill introduced to the Ohio House of Representatives this week by Rep. Kline L. Roberts of Franklin County.

The legislation has stirred particular interest in Pickaway County where phone customers frequently protest "long-winded" party line conversations. A spokesman for the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Company has stated that the utility does all it can to discourage the marathon party-line talkers.

In addition to the Ohio Independent Telephone Association, original sponsors of the bill, it has gained formal endorsements of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio State Grange, Buckeye State Sheriffs' Association, Ohio State Firemen's Association, Ohio Association of Chiefs of Police, Ohio State Association of Township Trustees and Clerks, Ohio Magistrates Association, Other Brotherhood of Police Officers and the North-western Ohio Volunteer Firemen's Association.

The proposed law provides fines of $50 to $500 and jail sentences of 30 to 90 days for persons who refuse to surrender party telephone lines in cases of emergency. It includes similar penalties for those who "fake" emergencies to get hold of the line. It follows recommendations of the Council of State Governments and parallels similar laws already enacted in Michigan, Washington and New York.

The 165 telephone companies now operating in Ohio would be required to print warnings against party line abuse in their local directories.

Pathetic End Comes To Couple

CINCINNATI (AP)—The lives of two elderly persons who led simple and frugal existences ended on a pathetic note this week.

Mrs. Margaret Blanks, 82, died Monday of malnutrition.

In his sorrow, her husband, Leonard, arranged her bier in their room. He put her body, clad in a tattered house dress, on the floor atop another dress. He neatly spread over the body an old comforter. Then Blanks, also in his 80s, wandered out of the house and drifted aimlessly. He collapsed and died alone on the right of way of a railroad track. His frozen body was found Thursday.

British Dislike Central Heating

By ALVIN STEINKOPF (For Hal Boyle)

Central heating, in case the term is unfamiliar means, the process of heating your house with a furnace.

Besides, it is only an exceptional winter that gets cold. When it is pointed out that every winter since the Norman conquest back in 1066 has been exceptional—al, he replies but of course next year will get back to normal.

There are many reasons why central heating is wicked.

There is the prevalent conviction that it is unhealthy. The Briton sneezes and snuffles, rubs his chest with ointments and comes down with chills and fibrositis and gets a chill. But he is certain that the warmth of a hot water radiator would make him sick.

"Dries the air, you know, and takes all the vitality out of it."

Then there is something sinful about having the whole house warm when you live in only one room at a time. Soft, self-indulgence.

And what is pleasanter or more romantic than the glow of a coal fire in an open grate?

The open coal fire may make as much smudge as glow, and it roasts a gentleman on one side and permits him to get goose pimples on the other. So the Englishman wanting to get his surface uniformly warm has developed a technique on rotating slowly before the fire, as if he were on a vertical spit.

There is one well established form of central heating in Britain. It is in greenhouses. Fireplaces were tried, but tomato plants refused to thrive hot on one side and cold on the other. Tomatoes have to be warm all over, like Americans.

Fire Claims 2 More In Family

CLEVELAND (AP)—Fire in a second-story home killed two more youngsters early today. Two others died in a similar blaze yesterday.

They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Delius Brown. Their father smelled smoke while watching television with neighbors in a downstairs apartment. He was unable to rescue the youngsters.

Cause of the fire was not learned immediately.

President Signs Measure OKing War Powers

Eisenhower Declares Resolution Evidence Of Anti-Red Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed the resolution for defense of Formosa, asserting it is evidence of united American determination to "resist Communist aggression" in an area "vital to the security" of the United States.

The President signed in the presence of congressional leaders and Secretary of State Dulles less than 12 hours after the Senate OK'd the resolution on an 85-3 vote.

The action cleared the way for Eisenhower to use American armed forces, notably the 7th Fleet, against any Red Chinese attack directed toward Formosa.

It also gives him authority to order the armed forces to evacuate Chinese Nationalist troops from the Tachen Islands.

Piled on a previous 409-3 House count, the Senate action gave a 494-6 congressional backing for a measure supporters said was aimed at keeping the peace but which critics contended might set off World War III.

Also included was authority to defend "related" areas, such as the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, with the possibility of strikes at the mainland if Communists mass there for an attack on Formosa.

Only Sens. Langer (R-ND), Lehman (D-Lib-NY), and Morse (Ind-Ore) voted "no" on final passage. They said they did so because of this latter provision.

EISENHOWER's signing of his fight-if-we-must policy was expected to touch off a Nationalist withdrawal from the menaced, Tachen Islands and lay bare Communist China's aims for peace or war.

The removal of 30,000 troops and civilians from the Tachens, 200 miles north of Formosa and only 18 miles from the Red China mainland, could begin any time.

U. S. and Nationalist military teams have completed plans.

A mighty U. S. 7th Fleet of 100 or more warships built around at least four aircraft carriers is in position to protect the withdrawal.

Swift U. S. F86 Sabrejets, the master of Communist jets during the Korean War, sit at combat ready on Formosa and Okinawa.

Long range bombers are deployed at a string of U. S. bases from Alaska to the Philippines.

The new U. S. policy for Formosa permits President Eisenhower to act on his own decision.

He can order U. S. military forces to fight for the protection of Formosa, the Pescadores and "related positions and territories."

The latter could include Nationalist island outposts close to the Chinese mainland, such as Quemoy and Matsu.

Chinese Red artillery on newly-captured Yikiangshan Island is within range of the Tachens.

The Reds have thrown air strikes against the Tachens mounted by as many as 200 planes, including MIG15 jets.

Intelligence sources have estimated the Communists have as many as 1,500 warplanes at mainland bases within striking distance of the Tachens.

Supporting them are 400,000 battle-tested Communist troops and security forces in the two coastal provinces of Chekiang and Fukien opposite Formosa, according to Nationalist intelligence officers.

U. S. To Offer 40-Year Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury has announced it will issue a 40-year bond Feb. 1, a move officially signaling confidence that the business downturn has ended.

The ultra-long-term issue is the longest since the 50-year bond of 1911 to pay for the Panama Canal. The interest rate will be 3 per cent, the same interest lenders got for the Canal issue.

It was one fourth per cent below the rate on a 30-year bond the Treasury issued in April 1953 as the first (and until now only) single long stride in the Eisenhower administration's announced policy of putting more of the public debt into long-term issues.

Danish Premier Dies In Stockholm

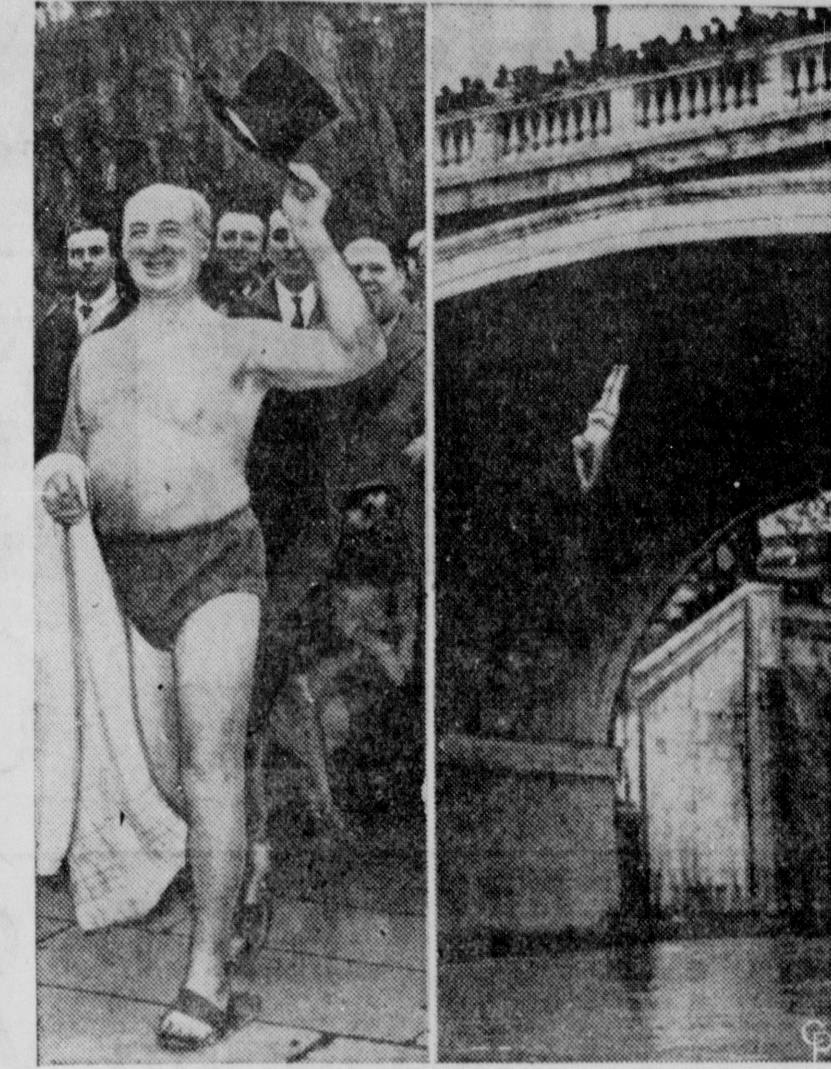

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Danish Premier Hans Hedtoft died today at the Grand Hotel here.

Hedtoft, leader of Denmark's Social Democrat party, was in Stockholm for the third session of the Nordic Council.

Death reportedly was due to a heart attack.

Hedtoft began his present term as premier in September, 1953, following his party's victory in a parliamentary election. He previously had served as premier several times.

The colony of New York had a population of 180,000 on July 9, 1776, when it declared its independence from Great Britain.

A. A. Greeno, Former Local Official, Dies

Arthur Allen Greeno, of 1002 S. High St., Columbus, a former public official here, died Friday at his home. He was 78.

Mr. Greeno in past years served as Pickaway County recorder and Circleville city solicitor. He also taught in the Pickaway County schools.

Mr. Greeno was born June 21, 1876, in Stoutsville, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Greeno. At the time of his death, he was a retired restaurant operator, having had his restaurant at Main and Front Sts. in Columbus.

Surviving him are: his wife, Lennie Greeno; two daughters, Miss Rosemary Greeno of the home and Mrs. Hazel Thornton of Circleville; four sons, Paul, Eugene, James and Alan, all of Columbus; three grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Monday in the Schoedinger Hilltop Chapel, 2542 W. Broad St., Columbus. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery, Circleville.

Friends may call in the chapel after 7 p. m. Saturday.

Chillicothe Man Killed Instantly In Odd Mishap

The body of a graveyard worker killed instantly Friday was returned to a Chillicothe funeral home.

Henry John Lochbaum, 62, of Chillicothe Route 6, died apparently from a broken neck, according to Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Ray Carroll. He was pinned in a Jackson Township Cemetery grave when a vault he was unloading apparently slipped.

Lochbaum's death is the third accidental one in the county in less than a week, all within a radius of six miles from Circleville and all in different directions. The other two were traffic fatalities.

Described by the Sterling Vault Co. of Chillicothe as one of its most careful workers, Lochbaum was preparing to slide the estimated 1,500-pound cement vault into a grave. As it was being rolled down planks by Lochbaum, it apparently slipped out of control and knocked him into the grave.

THE INCIDENT was seen from Route 104, a short distance away, by a passing truck driver. The driver notified another motorist, who turned out to be John Dewey, a former Pickaway County deputy sheriff now living in Columbus. Dewey called Sheriff Charles Radcliff.

The grave was being prepared for a 2 p. m. funeral for Miss Jennie Reid. The accident occurred shortly after noon.

The scene of the mishap is approximately six miles northwest of Circleville on Route 104.

Don't Call Singer 'Gene Artery'

HOUSTON (AP)—Gene Autry says he's been ridiculed as "Gene Artery" on a photograph record. The cowboy entertainer yesterday filed a suit in federal court asking $5,250 in damages. Defendants are Bozo St. Clair, a comedian, and Pete Lout, operator of the Town Lounge in Houston.

The suit alleges that a photograph recording made by St. Clair in 1953 and sold in the lounge ridiculed Autry and infringed on his copyrighted theme song, "Back in the Saddle Again."

date on a downtown street she had him arrested for disorderly conduct.

But Municipal Judge Berry J. Sisk ruled yesterday the 26-year-old airman's "right of free speech" was violated.

$8 Million Needed For Ohio Highways

COLUMBUS (AP)—Highway planners say they can speed Ohio's road building if another $8 million is appropriated in time to buy rights-of-way before July 1.

Members of the Legislature express belief that an emergency appropriation will receive swift approval to pep construction under an authorized $500 million program.

Reps. Robert F. Reckman (R-Hamilton) and Frank M. Gorman (D-Cuyahoga) are sponsors of a bill to make money available.

The measure would appropriate money realized from an $8 million bond issue for land purchases already approved by the State Highway Construction Council.

The bond issue would be in addition to $30 million already issued and sold to get the big road program underway.

Clingan Jackson of Youngstown, council chairman, said the land purchases are needed for the 1956-57 road building program that starts next July.

He explained that the 1958-59 construction program would include provision for land purchases and would not require another bond issue specifically for that purpose.

John F. Heier, chief engineer of the highway department's Bureau of Planning and Programming, said about 25 of the first 30 million dollars available for construction has been spent or encumbered.

He said road building plans were developed during the last year to the point where rights-of-way can be purchased. Failure to buy the necessary land before July 1, Heier explained, would delay construction.

Following is a breakdown of part of the sums designated for land purchases and their routes:

Pickaway County: Route 22, $5,000; Route 62, $3,000.

Hocking County: Route 33, $2,500.

Governor Lauds Ike's Formosa Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche told President Eisenhower yesterday he believes the American people are "uniformly" behind the President's stand on Formosa.

Lausche is here for a civil defense conference. He told reporters at the White House:

"I expressed my elation over the acceptance the public has uniformly made to his stand on Formosa. I told him that in my opinion the public thinks he is doing everything he possibly can to keep the country out of war."

Lausche said the President expressed gratification at his report.

Groups Back Bill To Hit Talky Phoners

Ten organizations have already endorsed the "Party Line Emergency" telephone bill introduced to the Ohio House of Representatives this week by Rep. Kline L. Roberts of Franklin County.

The legislation has stirred particular interest in Pickaway County where phone customers frequently protest "long-winded" party line conversations. A spokesman for the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Company has stated that the utility does all it can to discourage the marathon party-line talkers.

In addition to the Ohio Independent Telephone Association, original sponsors of the bill, it has gained formal endorsements of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio State Grange, Buckeye State Sheriffs' Association, Ohio State Firemen's Association, Ohio Association of Chiefs of Police, Ohio State Association of Township Trustees and Clerks, Ohio Magistrates Association, Other Brotherhood of Police Officers and the North-western Ohio Volunteer Firemen's Association.

The proposed law provides fines of $50 to $500 and jail sentences of 30 to 90 days for persons who refuse to surrender party telephone lines in cases of emergency. It includes similar penalties for those who "fake" emergencies to get hold of the line. It follows recommendations of the Council of State Governments and parallels similar laws already enacted in Michigan, Washington and New York.

The 165 telephone companies now operating in Ohio would be required to print warnings against party line abuse in their local directories.

Pathetic End Comes To Couple

CINCINNATI (AP)—The lives of two elderly persons who led simple and frugal existences ended on a pathetic note this week.

Mrs. Margaret Blanks, 82, died Monday of malnutrition.

In his sorrow, her husband, Leonard, arranged her bier in their room. He put her body, clad in a tattered house dress, on the floor atop another dress. His neatly spread over the body an old comforter. Then Blanks, also in his 80s, wandered out of the house and drifted aimlessly. He collapsed on a railroad track. His frozen body was found Thursday.

BRING A FRIEND TO CHURCH WITH YOU

Presbyterians Will Honor Youth Week Starting Sunday

Annual Youth Week will be observed at the Presbyterian Church as in many of the Protestant churches throughout the nation beginning the last Sunday in January. The Westminster Fellowship Group will have full charge of the worship service.

They have chosen the general theme, "United in Christian Fellowship," assigning the theme among three speakers as follows: "We Are Many," Douglas McCord; "We Are One," Bob Lamb; and "We Are the Church," Newell Stevenson.

Beau Stevenson, moderator of the group, will preside, Annette Glass will lead the responsive reading using the parable of the True Vine, describing the union between Christ and His Church, John 15. Elizabeth Musser, in charge of the Scripture Lesson, will read Paul's Sermon on Mars Hill (Acts 17:22); Jesus' Prayer for the unity of the Church (John 17:20); and that statement of vital union with Christ in Galatians 3:28.

In the Westminster Fellowship Choir, Donna Mitchell will sing the soprano solo, "O Morning Star," an arrangement by Johann Sebastian Bach. Elaine Burkhardt will lead in the morning prayer and Beverly Thornton will conduct the offertory service.

Hymns "The Church's One Foundation," "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee" and the Westminster Fellowship Hymn will be sung. The organ numbers "Meditation," "By The Lake of Galilee" and "The Heavens Resound" will be played by Mrs. Theodore L. Huston. The pastor will pronounce the benediction.

In the afternoon at 1 p. m. the catechism class will meet with the pastor in the session room of the church. At 3 p. m., the elders of the church will attend the Elders' Institute, a panel of ten workshops, to study every phase of the relationship of elders and laymen to the church. The Institute will be held at Broad St. Presbyterian Church, in Columbus, where 1,000 Elders from the Presbyterian churches of the Central Ohio area will meet together. Dinner will be served at 6 p. m.

In the evening, Westminster Fellowship members will meet in the social rooms of the church for a play-practice and prop-making session.

The Westminster Bible Class will meet at the home of Mrs. Guy Campbell Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. Miss Mary Hulse, Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. Sennet Cryder are hostesses. The elders will meet in the session room of the church at 8 p. m.

Rev. K. Wrightsel Guest Preacher At Calvary Revival

Unified services will be conducted in the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church on Sunday morning at 9 a. m. The service of worship will be conducted by the Rev. James B. Recob who will be assisted by Clark Zwyer, assistant Sunday school superintendent.

The Rev. Mr. Recob plans to preach upon the topic "Is Something Lacking?" His message will be based upon the Biblical narrative of the rich young ruler who came to Jesus seeking everlasting life.

At 7:30 p. m. Sunday evening, the Calvary Church revival meeting will open in the church. The guest preacher, who will speak each night throughout the coming week, will be the Rev. Kenneth Wrightsel.

The Rev. Mr. Wrightsel is the pastor of the Bremen Evangelical United Brethren Church, in Bremen. He is an effective speaker with a warm evangelical spirit.

The public is invited to attend the revival meeting services throughout the week to come.

Lutherans Get Last Sermon In Series

In Trinity Lutheran Church this Sunday, the Rev. Carl G. Zehner will present the last in a series of sermons on the Beatitudes. His sermon theme at the 8:30 and 10:45 a. m. services will be, "Free To Love," taken from the text Matthew 5:8.

The youth choir will lead the congregational singing at the early service and the music will be furnished by the senior choir at the late service. Sunday school will follow the early service at 9:30 a. m.

The nursery will be open to children up to three years of age at the late service.

An average of 141 people live on every square mile of land in Europe. This is more than three times as many as in the United States, which has only 44 persons per square mile.

Series Of Dramas At First EUB To End Sunday Night

Last of a series of musical dramas entitled "The Passion Play" will be presented by the Musical MacMurrays at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

Last Sunday night a large audience heard the Winona Lake Conference musical artists present the Celestial City presentation. This Sunday night, MacMurray will direct an original Passion Play entitled "O Lamb of God," which depicts the life, persecution, trial, death and resurrection of the Messiah.

MacMurray, dramatic tenor, will portray Christ in the Garden of Gethsemane and reenact in turn the high priest Caiaphas and the traitor Judas Iscariot. MacMurray will also play the title role of Pilate, the Roman governor, as the church choir represents the angry mob demanding Christ's crucifixion.

Mrs. MacMurray will handle sound effects for the dramatization. The presentation will have its climax with the church choir singing "O Lamb of God," assisted by a brass ensemble of the Circleville high school band.

Miss Lucille Kirkwood will preside at the piano and organ, and boys and girls of the rhythm chorus will sing incidental features which compose continuity of the drama.

The current Crusade for Christ at the First EUB Church will be concluded with the Rev. O. F. Gibbs, pastor, preaching Sunday at 9:30 a. m. on "The Great Mystery" from Job. 16:22.

Methodist Church Hears Dr. Hickey

Dr. W. Carl Hickey, superintendent of the Chillicothe district of The Methodist Church, will deliver the sermons in both morning services of The First Methodist Church. This will be Dr. Hickey's first visit to the local pulpit and he will use as his sermon subject, "The Problem of Burden Bearing."

The junior choir, under the direction of Mrs. Vaden Couch, will sing, "Thy Sheltering Arms" in the 8:30 a. m. service. The senior choir, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, will sing, "God Is A Spirit" in the 10:30 a. m. service. A men's quartet, composed of Barton Deming, Gene Cronenwett, Charles Kirkpatrick and Gordon Frasier, will sing, "Bless Us O Lord."

Mrs. Ervin Leist will be at the organ.

Although Sirius, the dog star, is not an exceptionally bright star, it is 28 times as bright as the sun.

ALL MIXED UP

Johnny's all mixed up! His coat rumpled and twisted! Buttons all wrong!

Do you know what Johnny's trouble is? He got a bad start. He poked the first button in the wrong hole.

You see, that first button is all-important. Unless Johnny gets that one right, the other buttons will never follow in pattern.

Johnny's first years are all-important, too. Without the proper Christian training, Johnny will get all mixed up inside. He will learn bad habits, dishonesty, untruthfulness. His life will become rumpled and twisted.

Bring your Johnny to Sunday School and Church. Help Johnny to a right start. The rest of his life will follow in the Christian pattern.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Rev. K. Wrightsel Guest Preacher At Calvary Revival

Unified services will be conducted in the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church on Sunday morning at 9 a. m. The service of worship will be conducted by the Rev. James B. Recob who will be assisted by Clark Zwyer, assistant Sunday church school superintendent.

The Rev. Mr. Recob plans to preach upon the topic "Is Something Lacking?" His message will be based upon the Biblical narrative of the rich young ruler who came to Jesus seeking everlasting life.

At 7:30 p. m. Sunday evening, the Calvary Church revival meeting will open in the church. The guest preacher, who will speak each night throughout the coming week, will be the Rev. Kenneth Wrightsel.

The Rev. Mr. Wrightsel is the pastor of the Bremen Evangelical United Brethren Church, in Bremen. He is an effective speaker with a warm evangelical spirit.

The public is invited to attend the revival meeting services throughout the week to come.

Lutherans Get Last Sermon In Series

In Trinity Lutheran Church this Sunday, the Rev. Carl G. Zehner will present the last in a series of sermons on the Beatitudes. His sermon theme at the 8:30 and 10:45 a. m. services will be, "Free To Love", taken from the text Matthew 5:8.

The youth choir will lead the congregational singing at the early service and the music will be furnished by the senior choir at the late service. Sunday school will follow the early service at 9:30 a. m.

The nursery will be open to children up to three years of age at the late service.

An average of 141 people live on every square mile of land in Europe. This is more than three times as many as in the United States, which has only 44 persons per square mile.

Series Of Dramas At First EUB To End Sunday Night

Last of a series of musical dramas entitled "The Passion Play" will be presented by the Musical MacMurrays at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

Last Sunday night a large audience heard the Winona Lake Conference musical artists present the Celestial City presentation. This Sunday night, MacMurray will direct an original Passion Play entitled "O Lamb of God", which depicts the life, persecution, trial, death and resurrection of the Messiah.

MacMurray, dramatic tenor, will portray Christ in the Garden of Gethsemane and reenact in turn the high priest Caiaphas and the traitor Judas Iscariot. MacMurray will also play the title role of Pilate, the Roman governor, as the church choir represents the angry mob demanding Christ's crucifixion.

Mrs. MacMurray will handle sound effects for the dramatization. The presentation will have its climax with the church choir singing "O Lamb of God", assisted by a brass ensemble of the Circleville high school band.

Miss Lucille Kirkwood will preside at the piano and organ, and boys and girls of the rhythm chorus will sing incidental features which compose continuity of the drama.

The current Crusade for Christ at the First EUB Church will be concluded with the Rev. O. F. Gibbs, pastor, preaching Sunday at 9:30 a. m. on "The Great Mystery" from Job, 16:22.

Pageant Of Lights Will Be Observed By Episcopalans

St. Philip's Church will observe the Annual Feast of Lights Sunday when the parish youth group will present a pageant at 7:30 p. m. depicting the spread of Christianity's light throughout the entire world. The two-fold pageant's theme covers the words of Christ, "I am the light of the world" and "Ye are the light of the world".

During the portrayal, a large candle will be placed upon the Altar to represent the Christ. This Christus candle will be the source of light given to each of twelve other candles representing the apostles. The apostle candles will then be carried to all parts of the church nave thus spreading the light to candles held by individual members of the congregation.

Then during the recessional, the congregation and choir will leave the church bearing their individual candles and thus carry the light to their own homes. According to ancient tradition, the persons who carry their candles to their own homes with the flame still burning will receive good fortune during the coming light.

The congregation's candles also serve as reminders to all members of the parish that they are commissioned by Christ to carry His light into the world of their daily lives.

Participants from the youth group are as follows: Dick Moore, opening sentences and The Our Father; Lawrence Miga, verses; Ronald Straight, first lesson from the Old Testament; Gail Dunlap, second lesson from the New Testament; Clayton T. Vaughan Jr., creed and verses; and David Hutzelman, address.

Bearers of the Apostle Candles will be: Sandra McAlister, Fountain Epler, Fred Sines, Geoffrey Denham, Ruth Sines, Joan Vaughan, Robert Sines, Ronald Straight, Dick Moore, Lawrence Miga, Clayton T. Vaughan, Jr. and Gail Dunlap.

The mild, moist winter climate of the state of Oregon is accounted for by the Japan current with the prevailing southwest winds of these months.

There are seven state parks in Oklahoma and one national park.

Methodist Church Hears Dr. Hickey

Dr. W. Carl Hickey, superintendent of the Chillicothe district of The Methodist Church, will deliver the sermons in both morning services of The First Methodist Church. This will be Dr. Hickey's first visit to the local pulpit and he will use as his sermon subject, "The Problem of Burden Bearing".

The junior choir, under the direction of Mrs. Vaden Couch, will sing, "Thy Sheltering Arms" in the 8:30 a. m. service. The senior choir, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, will sing, "God Is A Spirit" in the 10:30 a. m. service. A men's quartet, composed of Barton Deming, Gene Cronenwett, Charles Kirkpatrick and Gordon Frasier, will sing, "Bless Us O Lord".

Mrs. Ervin Leist will be at the organ.

Although Serious, the dog star, is not an exceptionally bright star, it is 28 times as bright as the sun.

Church Briefs

St. Philip's Laymen will participate in a corporate celebration of The Holy Communion Sunday morning at 8 a. m. Breakfast and a meeting with the Rector will follow the service.

ALL MIXED UP

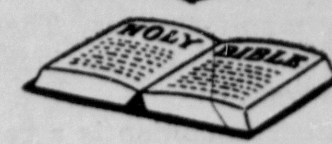

Johnny's all mixed up! His coat ruffled and twisted! Buttons all wrong!

Do you know what Johnny's trouble is? He got a bad start. He poked the first button in the wrong hole.

You see, that first button is all-important. Unless Johnny gets that one right, the other buttons will never follow in pattern.

Johnny's first years are all-important, too. Without the proper Christian training, Johnny will get all mixed up inside. He will learn bad habits, dishonesty, untruthfulness. His life will become ruffled and twisted.

Bring your Johnny to Sunday School and Church. Help Johnny to a right start. The rest of his life will follow in the Christian pattern.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

PARKING ARGUMENT

DIRECTORS of the National Parking Association, who represent private enterprise owners of downtown parking lots, assailed municipally owned parking lots, at a meeting in Washington, D. C.

Directors said cities are mistaken on several points. They denied that suburban centers with ample parking are driving downtown merchants out of business. They contend that where downtown parking shortages occur, private parking lot operators will remedy them if consulted by city planners.

Parking meters at curbs, to raise revenue for municipal off-street parking, they say, encourage city officials to skimp on critically needed bus and truck loading zones to squeeze in a few more meters. That interferes with transportation of goods and customers.

To these arguments the American Municipal Association, which advocates municipally owned parking lots, replies loftily: "We regard as academic the question of whether or not the municipality shall be engaged in off-street parking activities. It must be."

This is the issue churning up discussions in many cities across the land. It boils down to whether this is an exclusive private enterprise field or a proper adjunct of units of government which provide streets and highways.

"YE OF LITTLE FAITH"

WHILE MANY parts of the world are plagued by continuing drought, the British Isles and other parts of Northern Europe have been swept by disastrous storms, including torrential rains and high winds. There has been loss of life and considerable damage to property and shipping.

For a few hours the other day citizens of London were terror stricken when the city was suddenly wrapped in darkness. Thousand cowed in fear, many fell on their knees to pray. Some thought the end of the world was at hand. The phenomena — which weather officials said was caused by smog — was over in half an hour. Smoke which had accumulated in a heavy cloud was blown back over the city by changing winds.

Many meteorological manifestations are as easily explained. It has been suggested that the present drought in the Southwest was caused by explosions during atomic tests. That eventually man will perish because of a contaminated atmosphere. These predictions spring from man's fear of unusual weather manifestations. There were more severe droughts before invention of the atomic bomb.

The present weather condition is a repetition of dry cycles which are normal. Man succumbs to a deeply rooted human weakness when he becomes concerned about the unusual.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Some weeks ago, Harrison Smith, Associate Editor of "The Saturday Review," quarrelled publicly with the Library of Congress, because:

"My pleasure gave way to amusement and anger, however, when I received this week a script in which I was to say in the discussion was all written out-by someone else-and without my having been consulted at all. I was invited to add or alter!"

It was announced that subsequently Mr. Smith made his peace with the Library of Congress because he realized that the limitations of radio time or something of the sort required an avoidance of repetition of the same material by different speakers. I heard that one about 20 years ago.

I am sometimes asked to speak on "unrehearsed" programs on radio or television; you know, those so-called debates. If I say "yes," shortly before the occasion, a request for a copy of the opening statement. To this office replies routinely that I shall have no copy. A hazzle ensues and I provide no copy. If the sponsor, advertisers, radio stations and the FCC require an advance copy, they can do the appearing.

If the inviter still keeps me on the program, another dodge is tried: Will all the guest speakers come to the studio about an hour and a half before time to talk things over? One shindig even provided a meal. This talking things over is a rehearsal and the subtle idea is that if a speaker is to foul their rules, they will know in advance how to handle him.

For television shows, the dodge exists that makeup time is necessary, this consisting of smearing your face with pancake makeup and painting your eyebrows, if necessary. This operation takes a minute or two.

Now along comes tape, a process that is so wonderful that any part of the tape can be cut away and the rest of it pasted together and no one can tell the difference. The censors can get their dirty work in and no one would be the wiser, except the poor devil who submitted to the treatment if he is willing to listen to his own voice.

It is astonishing how many speeches that we hear are written by others than those who speak them. If men are made great by the words they utter, the ghost-writers should hold high office. In my younger days, when the wolf bayed at the door, I used to ghost-write. It would be dishonorable to tell who my clients were, but there were those who rose to fame and fortune on my words, some of which, I am sure, they did not quite understand even after they rose to fame and fortune.

The speech-writing mill of any candidate for the Presidency these days is a disgraceful shop, the employees of which usually determine in advance what the candidate ought to say. The most successful ghost-writers of our time are Robert Sherwood and Sam Rosenman who did remarkably well by their principal.

It is too bad that Harrison Smith made his peace with the Library of Congress. The issue was Sinclair Lewis about whom Smith knows much and most others too little. Red Lewis was a famous writer, now unfortunately not too remembered. Smith telegraphed the Library of Congress:

The quaint suggestion that man might have made greater progress if he had not been so well equipped for sitting down is now advanced by an economist.

LAFF-A-DAY

"I shot that one over my shoulder."

DIET AND HEALTH

Gout Isn't Any Joke

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

GOUT is often referred to as a disease of the wealthy.

While it is probably more prevalent among the so-called upper class, you don't have to have money to get the gout. Often, merely a greedy appetite for both food and alcohol is enough. Mental strain and fatigue are also believed to be contributing factors.

Luckily, this disease isn't as widespread as it was during the 18th century, when numerous cases were reported among members of the upper class, especially in England. I think a great deal of the blame for this outbreak can be placed on the heavy eating and overindulgence which was the rule, not the exception, during that period of history.

That's why we refer to gout as a rich man's hazard. Many of us can't afford the food and drink which seem to help this ailment get its start. Heredity, though, is also a very important factor. I imagine that about half of the cases can be attributed to this cause.

Very seldom are women stricken. Men are usually safe from gout until after their 40th birthday, unless they inherit the disease.

An injury to a joint, even a minor one, may precede an attack of gout. If you have gout, the uric acid in your blood is two to three times normal. This uric acid circulates in the form of sodium urate, which deposits in the cartilages of the joints.

A Sharp Pain

The first sign of an attack usually is an acute pain in one of your big toes. And it probably will occur during the night. The pain is very bad, and feels as though someone were shoving a hot iron against the toe joint.

As a rule, the pain subsides somewhat as morning approaches, but you aren't going to do much walking now. The joint is red and glazed. It's very tender and slightly swollen. Your temperature probably is higher than normal, too.

You'll go through more torture each night for about a week. Then the symptoms will probably disappear. They may return, however, in a few months.

Repeated attacks of gout usually lead to deformed big toes, in steps and perhaps fingers.

If you've got gout, you should keep below your average weight. Your doctor will likely tell you to avoid the following foods which contain large amounts of purine: Kidney, liver, brain, meat extracts, sardines, fish roes, and sweethearts. Beer and wine frequently bring on attacks, but you may be permitted moderate amounts of whiskey and gin.

Your diet should consist mainly of fresh fruit, vegetables, bread and cheese.

Special Diet

During an acute attack, your diet usually must be confined to: simple fresh fruits, cereals, bread, milk, cream, butter, beans, string beans, rice, potatoes, macaroni, greens, lettuce, cheese and coffee without caffeine.

Drink plenty of water, too. Use sugar and salt sparingly. Be sure to wear warm shoes in cold weather, but don't have them too tight. Warm, but loose-fitting gloves are also advised.

Your doctor may want to treat you with such drugs as ACTH or cortisone. A drug known as colchicine is also helpful in relieving symptoms.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

M.L.C.: What would cause the metabolism to be very low?

Answer: Low metabolism, as a rule, is due to a thyroid deficiency. However, it might come from disturbances of other glands of internal secretion. The disorder also may occur in certain chronic or long-continued ailments.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Ashville's basketball team pulled into undisputed lead in the county league by defeating Pickaway.

Nearly 500 persons attended an annual Farm Bureau meeting in Pickaway Fairgrounds coliseum, when Mrs. Neil Morris, Clyde Michel and Frank Graves were added to the board of directors.

Pickaway County fishermen have been given permission to keep all their catch, regardless of size and number, from Saltcreek and Big Walnut Creek during 1950, in a new law made by the State Department of Conservation.

TEN YEARS AGO

Youth organizations had charge of the services at both the Presbyterian and First Methodist churches Sunday.

Workers for the Pickaway County Red Cross supplied 420 knitted articles for the armed forces, and also filled 576 kits for needy families.

"Since You Went Away," starring Claudette Colbert, Jennifer Jones, Joseph Cotton, Shirley Temple, Monty Woolley, Lionel Barrymore and Robert Walker is being shown at the Grand Theater.

Twenty-five years ago Mrs. Collis Young is substituting at Circleville High School for Miss Margaret Mattinson, who is confined to her home by illness.

More than 400 persons attended the annual inspection of the Circleville Elks Lodge.

Members of the Epsilon Mu Sigma, English honorary society of Circleville High School, visited the city and county institutions in Columbus.

Bennett Cerf's
Try, Stop Me

John Cunningham, advertising notable, tells of a man whose umbrella was stolen from church after advertising for its recovery he still had not gotten it back. His ads were worded:
Lost from Trinity Church last Sunday: a black silk umbrella. The gentleman who took it will be handsomely rewarded by leaving it at Number 12 La Salle Street.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

THERE was a moment till it landed, then I heard it bounding down the steep slope through the leaves. It got reactions.

"Luger, down here. Quick." The other light was stabbing at the trees below. I heard Luger take off the boulders and hit the ground running. I heard feet running, too.

The rocks were completely dark now and I started back, my Leica hanging from my neck, my raw hands groping and feeling every foot, but each foot was that much farther away from the sounds growing faint behind me.

After long enough, it really was there—the end of the rocks, the path to the road, the Jaguar. I pulled myself in, started the engine and let it take me down the mountain.

Back in town I went directly to the courthouse.

At the foot of the stairs to the basement I found what I was looking for. One door said West Virginia State Police, Private. The one next to it said West Virginia State Police, Entrance.

The room I stepped into was dark but I could see through an open door into the next one, fully lighted. There were two men in uniform sitting across a desk from each other. The one with the hat on was the corporal I'd seen at the inn. On the wall beyond him there was a bulletin board with a Snellen eye test card and a printed motto that said, "A man isn't a failure till he blames someone else."

When I stepped through the door the two stopped talking and the one without his hat looked up at me as though this were a lodge room I hadn't any business coming into.

"I'd like to talk to you as soon as I can," I said. Neither of them spoke. The corporal got up and walked out past me as if the gun on his belt were too heavy. The sergeant pointed to the corporal's chair and I sat down.

"Have you found Purcell?" I asked.

He watched me with a tired expression and said, "No."

"I think I have something for you," I said. He reached for a memo pad and dragged it to him.

"Last Saturday I saw a man up on—"

"What's your name?" He held his pencil ready.

"Gratton. I'm a photographer from—"

"What's your full name?" he repeated without looking up.

We did the drill, everything in proper order including my date of birth, like checking in at a hospital.

Still without raising his head he said, "Last Saturday you saw a man."

I told him most of it, all the way through this afternoon and evening. It didn't excite him.

"Everybody's seen him," he said and looked at me for a change. "With a man like Purcell, it gets too important. They've seen Cadillac all over the county, they've seen a man walking along a road at night, they're all using their imaginations. But has anyone seen the car go over into the river?"

"I'm not imagining this," I showed him the back of my neck. He looked at it and said, "Sure, an eagle hit you."

"But there's the connection with this Metcalf," I said. "Yoke Gairdner can give you that."

"We've heard from him, too, along with all the others, including Washington, D. C. It's not fully my fault we're not getting any where. They can't blame me if everybody keeps dumping a lot of irrelevant material on top of me."

He pushed the memo with my story away from him. "We'll get after it."

"I think if we went up to those rocks with enough men we could find him," I said.

He looked at me as if I'd suggested the Marines.

"We'll get after it," he said as if he were trying to control his temper. "We can't do it tonight."

As I stood up I felt awfully tired. "If you want me I'll be at the inn."

He said, "Yes."

I left him sitting at his desk, staring at the eye test chart.

I drove over to the inn and parked in my usual place by the hedge. Then I took out my case of photographic stuff and jugged it inside. Tonight it felt full of bricks.

Up in my room I got to work. In a short time I made the bath into a fairly efficient darkroom.

PARKING ARGUMENT

DIRECTORS of the National Parking Association, who represent private enterprise owners of downtown parking lots, assailed municipally owned parking lots, at a meeting in Washington, D. C.

Directors said cities are mistaken on several points. They denied that suburban centers with ample parking are driving downtown merchants out of business. They contend that where downtown parking shortages occur, private parking lot operators will remedy them if consulted by city planners.

Parking meters at curbs, to raise revenue for municipal off-street parking, they say, encourage city officials to skimp on critically needed bus and truck loading zones to squeeze in a few more meters. That interferes with transportation of goods and customers.

To these arguments the American Municipal Association, which advocates municipally owned parking lots, replies loftily: "We regard as academic the question of whether or not the municipality shall be engaged in off-street parking activities. It must be."

This is the issue churning up discussions in many cities across the land. It boils down to whether this is an exclusive private enterprise field or a proper adjunct of units of government which provide streets and highways.

"YE OF LITTLE FAITH"

WHILE MANY parts of the world are plagued by continuing drought, the British Isles and other parts of Northern Europe have been swept by disastrous storms, including torrential rains and high winds. There has been loss of life and considerable damage to property and shipping.

For a few hours the other day citizens of London were terror stricken when the city was suddenly wrapped in darkness. Thousand cowed in fear, many fell on their knees to pray. Some thought the end of the world was at hand. The phenomena — which weather officials said was caused by smog — was over in half an hour. Smoke which had accumulated in a heavy cloud was blown back over the city by changing winds.

Many meteorological manifestations are as easily explained. It has been suggested that the present drought in the Southwest was caused by explosions during atomic tests. That eventually man will perish because of a contaminated atmosphere. These predictions spring from man's fear of unusual weather manifestations. There were more severe droughts before invention of the atomic bomb.

The present weather condition is a repetition of dry cycles which are normal. Man succumbs to a deeply rooted human weakness when he becomes concerned about the unusual.

news behind the news

Editor's Note: Every Saturday, Mr. Tucker answers readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent to him at 7008 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—"In view of the cold war costs," writes M.G., of Springfield, Mass., "I don't blame President Eisenhower too much for not balancing the budget, reducing taxes and lowering the public debt of $279 billion. During the war, however, there were forecasts that the post-war budget would fall to about $30 billion or $40 billion which would cut our taxes in half or so. Why hasn't that happened, and what accounts for the awful amount that we have to pay for what the federal government gives us?"

Answer: That is a mouthful of a question. I remember those wartime forecasts of a postwar budget of $30 billion or $40 billion which reflected the thinking of the White House, the Federal Reserve, the Treasury and both public and private economic advisers. I wrote several columns on the subject.

BUDGET—Their forecasts, of course, were based on the belief that Russia would remain a friend and ally to the United States. Here is how they thought the annual budget would shape up: National Defense, $15 billion (Truman had scheduled this amount as annual expenditure before the Korean "police action"); $5 billion for interest on the public debt; $5 billion for welfare and farm benefits, and $5 billion for the routine operations of the Federal government.

A few expansive souls added $10 billion to that total, making the over-all tap on our pocketbooks about $40 billion, or $22 billion less than President Eisenhower has asked for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956.

You have a right not to blame Eisenhower. The responsibility for these awful expenditures and excessive taxes rests directly on the men in the Kremlin. Malenkov and Khrushchev, not President Eisenhower and Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, frame or budgets.

MONEY GOES—A brief breakdown of the major expenditures programmed in Eisenhower's 1956 budget will show why the $30 billion or $40 billion figure, with an accompanying cut in taxes, is out of the question for the foreseeable future.

WELFARE—Nineteen per cent of the 1956 total, or about $12 billion, will be devoted to the so-called welfare operations—health, education, veterans' benefits, relief and other aids to unfortunates. A program, inaugurated by the Democrats, Ike and the Republicans do not dare to reduce the money allocated for humanitarian purposes.

Interest on the mounting public debt comes to about $6 billion, or almost 10 per cent of the 1956 budget. That total cannot be cut by a penny. And, believe it or not, only 4 per cent is set aside for financing the routine conduct of the government—salaries, materials, rents, etc.

MAJOR COSTS—Thus, preparing for future wars and paying for past conflicts, in which, oddly enough, we were the victors, accounts for the major costs of government. I doubt if the Federal budget will ever fall below $60 billion again, so long as Russia behaves as an outlaw nation.

The Senate has condemned Senator McCarthy," writes T. H. of Tulsa, Okla., "but it has not forced him to divulge details of his finances. Why doesn't the Senate make him prove whether he used anti-Communist contributions for personal saving and investment?"

Answer: To my mind, this is the gravest indictment against McCarthy. But he scoffs at suggestions that he make an official report, or submit his finances to Senate-selected auditors. And his politically-minded colleagues, both Democrats and Republicans, prefer to side step this all-important issue."

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Some weeks ago, Harrison Smith, Associate Editor of "The Saturday Review," quarrelled publicly with the Library of Congress, because:

"My pleasure gave way to amusement and anger, however, when I received this week a script in which what I was to say in the discussion was all written out by someone else-and without my having been consulted at all. I was invited to add or alter!"

It was announced that subsequently Mr. Smith made his peace with the Library of Congress because he realized that the limitations of radio time or something of the sort required an avoidance of repetition of the same material by different speakers. I heard that one about 20 years ago.

I am sometimes asked to speak on "un-rehearsed" programs on radio or television; you know, those so-called debates. If I say "yes," shortly before the occasion, a request for a copy of the opening statement. To this office replies routinely that I shall have no copy. A hazzle ensues and I provide no copy. If the sponsor, advertisers, radio stations and the FCC require an advance copy, they can do the appearing.

If the inviter still keeps me on the program, another dodge is tried: Will all the guest speakers come to the studio about an hour and a half before time to talk things over? One shindig even provided a meal. This talking things over is a rehearsal and the subtle idea is that if a speaker is to foul their rules, they will know in advance how to handle him.

For television shows, the dodge exists that makeup time is necessary, this consisting of smearing your face with pancake makeup and painting your eyebrows, if necessary. This operation takes a minute or two.

Now along comes tape, a process that is so wonderful that any part of the tape can be cut away and the rest of it pasted together and no one can tell the difference. The censors can get their dirty work in and no one would be the wiser, except the poor devil who submitted to the treatment if he is willing to listen to his own voice.

It is astonishing how many speeches that we hear are written by others than those who speak them. If men are made great by the words they utter, the ghost-writers should hold high office. In my younger days, when the wolf bayed at the door, I used to ghost-write. It would be dishonorable to tell who my clients were, but there were those who rose to fame and fortune on my words, some of which, I am sure, they did not quite understand even after they rose to fame and fortune.

The speech-writing mill of any candidate for the Presidency these days is a disgraceful shop, the employees of which usually determine in advance what the candidate ought to say. The most successful ghost-writers of our time are Robert Sherwood and Sam Rosenman who did remarkably well by their principal.

It is too bad that Harrison Smith made his peace with the Library of Congress. The issue was Sinclair Lewis about whom Smith knows much and most others too little. Red Lewis was a famous writer, now unfortunately not too remembered. Smith telegraphed the Library of Congress:

The quaint suggestion that man might have made greater progress if he had not been so well equipped for sitting down is now advanced by an economist.

DIET AND HEALTH

Gout Isn't Any Joke

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

GOUT is often referred to as a disease of the wealthy.

While it is probably more prevalent among the so-called upper class, you don't have to have money to get the gout. Often, merely a greedy appetite for both food and alcohol is enough. Mental strain and fatigue are also believed to be contributing factors.

Luckily, this disease isn't as widespread as it was during the 18th century, when numerous cases were reported among members of the upper class, especially in England. I think a great deal of the blame for this outbreak can be placed on the heavy eating and overindulgence which was the rule, not the exception, during that period of history.

That's why we refer to gout as a rich man's hazard. Many of us can't afford the food and drink which seem to help this ailment get its start. Heredity, though, is also a very important factor. I imagine that about half of the cases can be attributed to this cause.

Very seldom are women stricken. Men are usually safe from gout until after their 40th birthday, unless they inherit the disease.

An injury to a joint, even a minor one, may precede an attack of gout. If you have gout, the uric acid in your blood is two to three times normal. This uric acid circulates in the form of sodium urate, which deposits in the cartilages of the joints.

A Sharp Pain

The first sign of an attack usually is an acute pain in one of your big toes. And it probably will occur during the night. The pain is very bad, and feels as though someone were shoving a hot iron against the toe joint.

As a rule, the pain subsides somewhat as morning approaches, but you aren't going to do much walking now. The joint is red and glazed. It's very tender and slightly swollen. Your temperature probably is higher than normal, too.

You'll go through more torture each night for about a week. Then the symptoms will probably disappear. They may return, however, in a few months.

Repeated attacks of gout usually lead to deformed big toes, in-steps and perhaps fingers.

If you've got gout, you should keep below your average weight. Your doctor will likely tell you to avoid the following foods which contain large amounts of purine: Kidney, liver, brain, meat extracts, sardines, fish roes, and sweetbreads. Beer and wine frequently bring on attacks, but you may be permitted moderate amounts of whiskey and gin.

Your diet should consist mainly of fresh fruit, vegetables, bread and cheese.

Special Diet

During an acute attack, your diet usually must be confined to: simple fresh fruits, cereals, bread, milk, cream, butter, beans, string beans, rice, potatoes, macaroni, greens, lettuce, cheese and coffee without caffeine.

Drink plenty of water, too. Use sugar and salt sparingly. Be sure to wear warm shoes in cold weather, but don't have them too tight. Warm, but loose-fitting gloves are also advised.

Your doctor may want to treat you with such drugs as ACTH or cortisone. A drug known as colchicine is also helpful in relieving symptoms.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

M.L.C.: What would cause the metabolism to be very low?

Answer: Low metabolism, as a rule, is due to a thyroid deficiency. However, it might come from disturbances of other glands of internal secretion. The disorder also may occur in certain chronic or long-continued ailments.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Ashville's basketball team pulled into undisputed lead in the county league by defeating Pickaway.

Nearly 500 persons attended an annual Farm Bureau meeting in Pickaway Fairgrounds coliseum, when Mrs. Neil Morris, Clyde Michel and Frank Graves were added to the board of directors.

Pickaway County fishermen have been given permission to keep all their catch, regardless of size and number, from Saltcreek and Big Walnut Creek during 1950, in a new law made by the State Department of Conservation.

TEN YEARS AGO

Youth organizations had charge of the services at both the Presbyterian and First Methodist churches Sunday.

Workers for the Pickaway County Red Cross supplied 420 knitted articles for the armed forces, and also filled 576 kits for needy families.

"Since You Went Away," starring Claudette Colbert, Jennifer Jones, Joseph Cotton, Shirley Temple, Monty Woolley, Lionel Barrymore and Robert Walker is being shown at the Grand Theater.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Mrs. Collis Young is substituting at Circleville High School for Miss Margaret Mattinson, who is confined to her home by illness.

More than 400 persons attended the annual inspection of the Circleville Elks Lodge.

Members of the Epsilon Mu Sigma, English honorary society of Circleville High School, visited the city and county institutions in Columbus.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

THERE was a moment till it landed, then I heard it bounding down the steep slope through the leaves. It got reactions.

"Luger, down here. Quick." The other light was stabbing at the trees below. I heard Luger take off the boulders and hit the ground running. I heard feet running, too.

The rocks were completely dark now and I started back, my Leica hanging from my neck, my raw hands groping and feeling every foot, but each foot was that much farther away from the sounds growing faint behind me.

After long enough, it really was there—the end of the rocks, the path to the road, the Jaguar. I pulled myself in, started the engine and let it take me down the mountain.

Back in town I went directly to the courthouse.

At the foot of the stairs to the basement I found what I was looking for. One door said West Virginia State Police, Private. The one next to it said West Virginia State Police, Entrance.

The room I stepped into was dark but I could see through an open door into the next one, fully lighted. There were two men in uniform sitting across a desk from each other. The one with the hat on was the corporal I'd seen at the inn. On the wall beyond him there was a bulletin board with a Shellen eye test card and a printed motto that said, "A man isn't a failure till he blames someone else."

When I stepped through the door the two stopped talking and the one without his hat looked up at me as though this were a lodge room I hadn't any business coming into.

"I'd like to talk to you as soon as I can," I said.

Neither of them spoke. The corporal got up and walked out past me as if the gun on his belt were too heavy. The sergeant pointed to the corporal's chair and I sat down.

"Have you found Purcell?" I asked.

He watched me with a tired expression and said, "No."

"I think I have something for you," I said.

He reached for a memo pad and dragged it to him.

"Last Saturday I saw a man

"What's your name?" He held his pencil ready.

"Gratton. I'm a photographer from—"

"What's your full name?" he repeated without looking up.

We did the drill, everything in proper order including my date of birth, like checking in at a hospital.

Still without raising his head he said, "Last Saturday you saw a man."

I told him most of it, all the way through this afternoon and evening. It didn't excite him.

"Everybody's seen him," he said and looked at me for a change. "With a man like Purcell, it gets too important. They've seen Cadillac all over the county, they've seen a man walking along a road at night, they're all using their imaginations. But has anyone seen the car go over into the river?"

"I'm not imagining this," I showed him the back of my neck.

He looked at it and said, "Sure, an eagle hit you."

"But there's the connection with this Metcalf," I said. "Yoke Gairdner can give you that."

"We've heard from him, too, along with all the others, including Washington, D. C. It's not fully my fault we're not getting anywhere. They can't blame me if everybody keeps dumping a lot of irrelevant material on top of me." He pushed the memo with my story away from him. "We'll get after it."

"I think if we went up to those rocks with enough men we could find him," I said.

He looked at me as if I'd suggested the Marines.

"We'll get after it," he said as if he were trying to control his temper. "We can't do it tonight."

As I stood up I felt awfully tired. "If you want me I'll be at the inn."

He said, "Yes."

I left him sitting at his desk, staring at the eye test chart.

I drove over to the inn and parked in my usual place by the hedge. Then I took out my case of photographic stuff and lugged it inside. Tonight it felt full of bricks.

Up in my room I got to work. In a short time I made the bath into a fairly efficient darkroom.

YOUR FUTURE

A happy and mainly successful anniversary should be yours. Look for a happy, care-free disposition in the child born under these influences.

For Sunday, Jan. 30, after early doubts and uncertainties, you should meet with considerable success in business. Today's child may be quick-witted, clever and resourceful.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Adolf A. Berle, Jr., lawyer and diplomat; former Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, and Victor Mature, motion picture actor, should be celebrating today.

On Sunday, Jan. 30, we felicitate Susan Hayward, film star; David Wayne, actor; Walter Droppo and Mickey Harris of baseball fame.

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

1. Pelham Grenville Wodehouse.
2. Evidence of indebtedness of a corporation, not secured by the mortgage or right of foreclosure.
3. The library at Alexandria, Egypt.
4. Gregory Rasputin.
5. Persia.

35 Members, Guest Attend Dinner Meet

The business and professional Women's Club of Circleville held its regular meeting in Pickaway Arms with 35 members and guests present.

During a dinner and immediately following, Weta Mae Leist and Betty Lou Leist played several accordion duets. An International Relations committee, which includes Mrs. Evelyn Carter, chairman, Mrs. Florence Campbell and Mrs. Hazel Merz, were in charge of the program for the session.

Mrs. Carter introduced the guest speaker, Judge William D. Radcliff, who spoke on the International Monetary Fund and International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

He discussed the history of this organization from its beginning in 1944, when its object was to stabilize currency and enable the exchange of currency. From this organization the World Bank was created with headquarters at Washington, D. C.

There are now 48 members, but not Russia or its satellites. Loans are made to countries for the construction of power plants, communication and transportation. To date 107 loans have been made to 36 countries.

Judge Radcliff then commented on the world situation and the imminence of war. He said that what we must do is to resolve never again to engage in any armed service for such a limited gain. We must make up our minds that if we ever engage in war again we must not be satisfied with less than victory. It is time for each of us to think of the international situation as part of our life.

He said we must think seriously of the problems we are living with—we must face these problems and see them through to the end.

A business session was held following the program. Mrs. Anna Chandler read the changes to be made in the club constitution to make it meet the requirements of the state and national organization.

Reports were given on Christmas projects. Ten business and professional women were voted to membership in the club.

The social period was conducted by Mrs. Lillian Avis following the meeting.

GOP Boosters Conduct Review Of 1954 Meetings

Mrs. Howard Clark of 221 Walnut St. was hostess to members of GOP Booster club in her home.

The meeting opened with a pledge of allegiance led by Mrs. Harry Styers Jr. followed by group singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Miss Lucille Dumm was in charge of a business hour and used as her topic, "What Are Our Chances For Peace?" Mrs. George Mavis read the minutes from meetings held ten years ago, which included many interesting events that had taken place during that period.

Election of officers was held. Miss Lucille Dumm was re-elected president; Mrs. Styers, vice president; Mrs. Mavis, secretary; Mrs. Howard Clark, treasurer; and Mrs. Wayne Stonerock and Mrs. H. E. Valentine, flower committee.

The hostess served lunch at a large table. Games followed and gifts were awarded to Mrs. Styers, Mrs. Roger Jury and Mrs. Irvin Smith.

A February meeting is planned to be held in the home of Mrs. Styers, 957 S. Pickaway St., with a Lincoln celebration.

Rise And Shine-- And Thank Levi

You've probably never heard of Levi Hutchins. But when your alarm clock rings each morning you can thank Levi, who invented the thing in Concord, Mass., in 1787. (And that was even before the Russians invented it.)

If you're an average American, getting up for work, school or to prepare breakfast for your family, undoubtedly you have no love for the sound. But look at it this way—that bell is tolling for you and you do have to get up. So why not get up right away and avoid that early morning hassle?

You'll be better off in several ways. You'll enjoy washing and dressing at ease, once you get used to it. More important, you'll have the time for a good breakfast—something everybody needs and all too few get.

Nutritionists say that breakfast is the most neglected meal of the day. And most of them agree that breakfast is at least as important as the other meals and should supply one-fourth to one-third of the body's daily requirements for protein, minerals, vitamins and calories.

Failure to have enough to eat or the right kind of breakfast usually results in fatigue, irritability and lessened efficiency and work output, the experts say.

A basic breakfast pattern set forth by nutritionists consists of fruit or fruit juices, cereal, milk or coffee, bread or toast and butter or fortified margarine. Eggs, bacon or other meats should be included several times each week.

Dr. Neige Todhunter, head of the Department of Nutrition, University of Alabama, believes lack of time is the reason why so many people skip breakfast.

"In talking of an adequate breakfast," Dr. Todhunter says, "the question of adequate time should be stressed. The lack of breakfast is a serious problem in many parts of the country, and one of the main reasons why so many children and workers fail to have breakfast is because they do not have time for it."

So think of Levi when your clock rings tomorrow morning. All he's trying to do is give you a better start on a better day and help you to better health.

New Upside Down Cherry Bran Bread

Cherry Bran Bread is no ordinary quick bread. It's chock-full of red maraschino cherries, fine 100 per cent whole bran and pecans. But, its delicious caramel-like cherry nut upside down topping makes it a truly distinctive bread.

A mixture of cherries, nuts, butter and brown sugar is spread in the bottom of the baking pan and covered with cherry bran batter. When the bread is baked, it is turned from the pan and cooled upside down so the cherry-nut mixture becomes a tempting topping.

To prevent quick breads from cracking on the top, try this trick of food experts. Be careful not to overmix the batter and cover the loaf pan with an inverted bread pan or cover with aluminum foil. At the end of 20 minutes of baking, remove pan or foil and continue baking.

Cherry Bran Bread

Toppings:

1 tablespoon butter or margarine ½ cup maraschino cherries
¼ cup light brown sugar ¼ cup chopped nuts

Melt butter or margarine in bottom of loaf pan and sprinkle brown sugar, cherries and nuts evenly over bottom of pan. Let stand while mixing the bread.

Batter:

2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour 2 tablespoons melted butter
3 teaspoons baking powder or margarine
¾ cup sugar 1 cup whole bran
½ teaspoon salt ½ cup chopped maraschino cherries
1 egg, beaten ¼ cup chopped nuts
1¼ cups milk

Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Combine egg and milk and stir into dry ingredients. Add melted butter or margarine, whole bran, cherries and nuts and mix until well blended. Pour into prepared pan and bake in moderate oven (350°F.) for 1 hour to 1 hour and 10 minutes. Remove at once from pan onto rack. Cool before slicing. Yield: 1 loaf.

Monrovia Garden Club members will hold their next regular meeting at 8 p. m. Feb. 7 in the Mt Sterling home of Mrs. John Dick. A special program has been planned for members and guests at this session.

Response to roll call is to be "Your best blooming violet. Why this one?", after which a general discussion of violets will be held. Another topic of discussion will be "Window Boxes" by Mrs. Harry Smith.

Members are to display their best and most interesting house plants. They are also to make and bring one or more Valentine party favors, which will be put on display. Later they are to be sent to Circleville for use on hospital trays.

High light of the evening is to be an address by Miss Lucille Norris, who will speak on a subject of interest to all homemakers with spring house cleaning just around the corner. Her subject is to be: "Home Decorating".

Church Youths Attend Session

Members of the youth group of the Ashville Methodist church attended a Methodist Mid-Winter Institute held in the Walnut Street Methodist church of Chillicothe.

The Rev. Emerson Abts accompanied the group and taught of a class of intermediate students in the Trinity Methodist church of Chillicothe. His subject was, "The Story of the Church."

Those attending the sessions from Ashville were: The Rev. Mr. Abts, Carolyn Stout, Roberta Hardin, Beverly Reigel, Larry Fullen, Eddie Leatherwood and Charles Trone Jr.

THEN, in the third quarter, the Deers put on the scoring steam to forge ahead and clinched it in the final frame. Williamsport can now only hope for Ashville and Scioto to lose their remaining games. At WILMINGTON led at the end of the first period 11 to 10.

As the second frame started, Tomlinson and McConnell scored a bucket each and Jim Callahan added a foul shot to give CHS a 15-11 bulge.

But then Carey came back into the game. And with less than a minute and a half to go in the second period he dunked in a two pointer to put Wilmington in the lead 22-21. Kersey added two as did McConnell and the half-time score read 24-23 Wilmington.

CHS TRIED to narrow the gap with Tomlinson popping in eight points. As the third quarter came to a close, the Hurricanes held a slim 37-35 lead.

With a minute and a half gone in the final frame, Sieverts, who had replaced Curry, dunked one in to knot the count. Half a minute later, Bobby Callahan put the Tigers out in front 39-37. But for the next four minutes CHS was unable to score.

For that matter, it took Wilmington nearly 3½ minutes to score. But then they began to roll. Jim Doak, who is the South Central Ohio League high jump champion, sank two foul shots to tie the score.

Then Carey dumped in his only two points of the second half as he hooked one in over the outstretched hands of Sieverts. McConnell ended the Tiger scoring with little more than two minutes left when he made good on two foul shots. But Wilmington held a 44-41 lead.

Just as the game ended, Doak was fouled. With fans milling all over the floor, he missed the first try but connected on the second.

WILMINGTON COACH Jim Midlam said that he had no excuses. He remarked that his boys "were definitely not let down but were simply outlasted."

Wilmington now has a 6-0 record in SCOL play; CHS has a 1-4 mark. The Tigers are not scheduled to play until next Friday when they travel to Washington C.H. for an SCOL game.

In the reserve game, the CHS Kittens played one of their worst games. They were never really in the contest, losing 49 to 36.

The Kittens again demonstrated a lack of ability to follow up shots. The squad just could not seem to get going.

In a junior high game, which began at 6 p. m., Circleville remained undefeated by downing Wilmington 25 to 22. Circleville now has beaten each school once.

Wilmington Held To Lowest In Beating Circleville 46-41

CHS Almost Pulls Biggest Upset Of The Season; Hurricane Ace Ron Carey Held To Seven Points

Wilmington, undefeated in 12 straight contests, was held to its lowest score of the season as the Hurricane just squeaked by Circleville 46 to 41 Friday night.

The Tigers, fired up for the game, actually led 39 to 37 in the fourth quarter. But CHS just did not have enough steam left.

Ron Carey, Wilmington's bespectacled 6' 5" scoring cog, was held to a new low of seven points. He got five of them off the tight guarding of Jay Curry and only two more off the fine play of Walt Sieverts. It is very obvious that Wilmington is just another team without Carey.

However, not to take anything away from the Tigers, it must be noted that Carey was suffering from a slightly sprained right ankle. He was taken out in the middle of the first period and did not return until half way through the second stanza.

Another note of interest concerns the fact that Joe Hill, the Tigers' only letterman, was declared ineligible. Bobby Callihan started in his place and did a fine job.

Wilmington's accuracy was its poorest of the season. The Hurricanes hit only on 15 field goals in 57 attempts for a 26 per cent mark; CHS made good on 13 out of 40 for a 32½ per cent average.

On foul shooting, the Tigers posted a 62½ per cent mark with 15 charity tosses out of 24 good; Wilmington made 16 out of 34 for a 47 per cent record

Purdue Poised For Role As Gopher-Killer

CHICAGO (AP)—Purdue's Boilermakers can add further confusion to the already confusing Big Ten basketball race tonight if they can upset title-conscious Minnesota.

The Gophers (4-2) currently tied with Iowa for first place, have been beaten by Northwestern and Michigan State. Both setbacks were on enemy courts.

Purdue has gathered its two triumphs at home. The Boilermakers have three losses but can jump into the title picture with a home victory over Minnesota.

Should the Gophers win, they can move into first place all alone since the other first division teams are idle except for Northwestern and Illinois.

Northwestern meets Ohio State in the only other conference game of the day. The contest will be televised nationally at 3 p. m.

Northwestern (3-2) doesn't figure to lose this one since the Buckeyes will be playing without Robin Freeman, top scorer in the conference and No. 2 man nationally. Freeman still has an ouchy ankle.

Two conference teams, Illinois and Michigan State, will be fea-

Palmer Continues To Lead Tourney

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Pace setting Johnny Palmer wouldn't predict by any means that he will win the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Golf Tournament, but he has an idea that last year's 72-hole total of 288 will fall.

Palmer led the way into the third round today with rounds of 62-68 behind him for a total of 130 or 14 strokes under par.

With two more rounds ahead, Palmer's guess looked sound. Freddie Haas Jr. scored the 268 last year, 20 shots under par for the Thunderbird Country Club.

Hotshot Outscores Entire Opposition

OXFORD (AP)—Jerry Burns of Ross Township scored two more points than Oxford McGuffey as Ross thrashed McGuffey 81-49 in a Butler County basketball game last night.

The 6-5 forward tallied 21 field goals and nine free throws for a total of 51 points.

Wolfpack Hoping Revenge Will Taste Sweet Tonight

The Associated Press

Revenge is sweet and this figures to be a very pleasant night for North Carolina State in college basketball.

The Wolfpack, bristling after a slip from No. 2 to No. 3 this week in The Associated Press poll, is at home to unranked Villanova—one of only three teams to beat NCS this season. Villanova accomplished its success New Year's night, ending a 12-game Wolfpack streak.

Although they've since been spilled by Maryland and North Carolina, Wolfpack fans have thought Villanova caught their heroes at a bad time. Two days before, they had wound up a tough three-day trip to win the Dixie Classic.

Another cross Villanova has to bear is the Wolfpack's expected try for an impressive bid to scramble back into the No. 2 spot. They stumbled by losing to North Carolina last week despite a follow-up success over high-ranked LaSalle.

San Francisco, the team that replaced NCS as the runnerup to Kentucky in the poll, returned to action after a two-week exam lay-off last night with a 76-60 victory over Stanford. It was the 11th straight triumph for the Dons, top defensive team in the nation.

A crowd of 13,824 fans—with about 3,000 others turned away—jammed the Cow Palace in San Francisco for the Don-Stanford battle, part of a doubleheader that also saw Santa Clara beat California 66-59 in overtime. It was the largest basketball crowd ever in the area, and possibly an all-time top on the Pacific Coast.

Only three other ranked teams were at work, and all won. Marquette (No. 11) was carried into overtime, but defeated Loyola of New Orleans 90-88 to extend the nation's longest winning streak to 15 games; Utah (No. 7) won its seventh straight and remained unbeaten in the Skyline Conference with a 60-52 decision over Utah State, and UCLA (No. 9), co-leader of the Pacific Coast Conference southern division with Stanford, defeated Santa Barbara 91-62 in a non-league game.

In other top games, Southern Methodist set a Southwest Conference scoring record and climbed into a first place tie with idle Texas Christian by defeating Baylor 96-84; Furman, No. 1 in offense in the nation, topped 100 points for the seventh time 125-87 over Virginia Tech, Oregon State beat Washington 55-51 for a 7-0 mark in the PCC northern division, and West Texas State dumped defending champ Texas Tech 87-78 in the Border Conference.

Determine Eyes Anita's Heavy Sugar

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Turf's leading money winner of 1954, the little gray Determine, gets his first chance today at some of 1955's heavy sugar in the $163,360 Santa Anita feature.

Opinion remained sharply divided on whether the Kentucky Derby champion could lug the top weight of 126 pounds in the mile and a quarter test of 4-year-olds and take the $87,000 top money.

Owned by automobile dealer Andy Crevolin, the gray will have his stablemate Allied as a running mate. But that entry may open at a somewhat longer price than the Calumet pair, Duke's Lea and the fleet filly Miz Clementine.

Weight could be the big factor here. Duke's Lea, having no stakes victories, will get in at 113. Miz Clementine carries 117. Jockey Ralph Neves, who had his choice of the two, decided to ride the colt.

Eddie Arcaro took the call for Miz Clementine.

Ray York will pilot Determine, with Johnny Longden included in the 14 pounds on Allied.

Crevolin exudes confidence in Determine. "It would take the worst kind of racing luck to beat him—and this is something I don't expect, particularly in a comparatively small field," he said.

Purdue Poised For Role As Gopher-Killer

CHICAGO (AP) — Purdue's Boilermakers can add further confusion to the already confusing Big Ten basketball race tonight if they can upset title-conscious Minnesota.

The Gophers (4-2) currently tied with Iowa for first place, have been beaten by Northwestern and Michigan State. Both setbacks were on enemy courts.

Purdue has gathered its two triumphs at home. The Boilermakers have three losses but can jump into the title picture with a home victory over Minnesota.

Should the Gophers win, they can move into first place all alone since the other first division teams are idle except for Northwestern and Illinois.

Northwestern meets Ohio State in the only other conference game of the day. The contest will be televised nationally at 3 p. m.

Northwestern (3-2) doesn't figure to lose this one since the Buckeyes will be playing without Robin Freeman, top scorer in the conference and No. 2 man nationally. Freeman still has an ouchy ankle.

Two conference teams, Illinois and Michigan State, will be featured in the following television and radio program listings are entirely the fault of the broadcasting companies.

Palmer Continues To Lead Tourney

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Pace setting Johnny Palmer wouldn't predict by any means that he will win the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Golf Tournament, but he has an idea that last year's 72-hole total of 268 will fall.

Palmer led the way into the third round today with rounds of 62-68 behind him for a total of 130 or 14 strokes under par.

With two more rounds ahead, Palmer's guess looked sound. Freddie Haas Jr. scored the 268 last year, 20 shots under par for the Thunderbird Country Club.

Hotshot Outscores Entire Opposition

OXFORD (AP) — Jerry Burns of Ross Township scored two more points than Oxford McGuffey as Ross thrashed McGuffey 81-49 in a Butler County basketball game last night.

The 6-5 forward tallied 21 field goals and nine free throws for a total of 51 points.

Wolfpack Hoping Revenge Will Taste Sweet Tonight

The Associated Press
Revenge is sweet and this figures to be a very pleasant night for North Carolina State in college basketball.

The Wolfpack, bristling after a slip from No. 2 to No. 3 this week in The Associated Press poll, is at home to unranked Villanova — one of only three teams to beat NCS this season. Villanova accomplished its success New Year's night, ending a 12-game Wolfpack streak.

Although they've since been spilled by Maryland and North Carolina, Wolfpack fans have thought Villanova caught their heroes at a bad time. Two days before, they had wound up a tough three-day test to win the Dixie Classic.

Another cross Villanova has to bear is the Wolfpack's expected try for an impressive bid to

Determine Eyes Anita's Heavy Sugar

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Turf's leading money winner of 1954, the little gray Determine, gets his first

San Francisco, the team that replaced NCS as the runnerup to Kentucky in the poll, returned to action after a two-week exam lay-off last night with a 76-60 victory over Stanford. It was the 11th straight triumph for the Dons, top defensive team in the nation.

A crowd of 13,824 fans — with about 3,000 others turned away — jammed the Cow Palace in San Francisco for the Don-Stanford battle, part of a doubleheader that also saw Santa Clara beat California 66-59 in overtime. It was the largest basketball crowd ever in the area, and possibly an all-time top on the Pacific Coast.

Only three other ranked teams were at work, and all won. Marquette (No. 11) was carried into overtime, but defeated Loyola of New Orleans 90-88 to extend the nation's longest winning streak to 15 games; Utah (No. 7) won its seventh straight and remained unbeaten in the Skyline Conference with a 60-52 decision over Utah State, and UCLA (No. 9), co-leader of the Pacific Coast Conference southern division with Stanford, defeated Santa Barbara 91-62 in a non-league game.

In other top games, Southern Methodist set a Southwest Conference scoring record and climbed into a first place tie with idle Texas Christian by defeating Baylor 96-84; Furman, No. 1 in offense in the nation, topped 100 points for the seventh time 125-87 over Virginia Tech, Oregon State beat Washington 55-51 for a 7-0 mark in the PCC northern division, and West Texas State dumped defending champ Texas Tech 87-78 in the Border Conference.

Ancient Rule Gives Decision To Johnson

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A seldom invoked scoring rule helped George Johnson, 10th ranking middleweight, to a hairline verdict over bloody but unbowed Ramon Fuentes at Convention Hall here last night.

Johnson, 154, Trenton, N. J., was awarded a split decision over Fuentes, 153, the fourth ranking welterweight from Los Angeles. An estimated 2,500 fans saw the hotly contested TV fight.

The officials were widely split on the verdict. Referee Willie Clark scored Fuentes the winner, 6-4; Judge Jimmy Mina voted for Johnson 6-3-1 and Judge Nick Spano carded five rounds for each.

However, Spano used a scoring regulation that has been in mothballs in Pennsylvania for longer than most veteran ringside observers care to remember. He gave the decision to Johnson—12 to 5 favorite—on the basis of a strong 10th round.

Johnson, who spent most of the night backing away from the lunging attack and smashing two hand barrages at Fuentes, dropped the Mexican for a count of eight in the final round with a solid right to the chin. Fuentes staggered upright at three, and after taking the mandatory eight count, managed to shake his head clear enough to stay away from the Jersey fighter's flailing fists.

It was the knockdown and Johnson's clear cut 10th round edge that swayed Spano to the 23-year-old middleweight's corner.

Gene Conley of the Milwaukee Braves in his first full season in the major leagues, found the Dodgers his softest touch. He beat Brooklyn five times and lost only once.

chance today at some of 1955's heavy sugar in the $163,360 Santa Anita feature.

Opinion remained sharply divided on whether the Kentucky Derby champion could lug the top weight of 126 pounds in the mile and a quarter test of 4-year-olds and take the $87,000 top money.

Owned by automobile dealer Andy Crevolin, the gray will have his stablemate Allied as a running mate. But that entry may open at a somewhat longer price than the Calumet pair, Duke's Lea and the fleet filly Miz Clementine.

Weight could be the big factor here. Duke's Lea, having no stakes victories, will get in at 113. Miz Clementine carries 117. Jockey Ralph Neves, who had his choice of the two, decided to ride the colt.

Eddie Arcaro took the call for Miz Clementine.

Ray York will pilot Determine, with Johnny Longden included in the 114 pounds on Allied.

Crevolin exudes confidence in Determine. "It would take the worst kind of racing luck to beat him—and this is something I don't expect, particularly in a comparatively small field," he said.

City Sewage Department Not Operating At Financial Best

Annual Report Indicates Rates May Be Hiked

Final Decision Rests With Survey Result Of Engineer Firm

(First of a series of two.)
Circleville's department of sewage is not operating at its peak financially, according to an annual report released by Public Utilities Manager Ervin Leist.
Circleville's department of water is operating much more profitably than the department of sewage, according to an annual report released by Public Utilities Manager Ervin Leist.
The best way to sum it up is this—salaries alone paid out in 1954 represented a larger figure than all expenditures did in 1940.
"The cost of operation of the sewage department too nearly approaches the annual revenue," Leist reported. "The board of public utilities is now preparing a revised schedule of sewer service charges for early presentation to City Council for their consideration."

LEIST ALSO pointed out that although the city of Circleville has greatly expanded in the same period of time, sewage rates have remained the same since they were put into effect in 1939. However, he estimated that the 1955 revenue would exceed the 1954 total.
One of the biggest problems concerns sludge. Leist has suggested a new sludge pump which handles Container Corp. waste to replace the old one at an approximate cost of $1,000. He backs up his proposal with the following figures:
Total sludge pumped for the city of Circleville in 1954—slightly more than 2 million gallons; total sludge pumped for Container Corp.—more than 7.13 million gallons.
Total of all waste pumped for Circleville in 1954—more than 181 3/8 million gallons; for Container Corp.—just over 191 million gallons.
Leist explained that the one pump doing the work for Container Corp. is just worn out.

ANOTHER recommendation by Leist concerns covers for the Digesters at the sewage plant. The present roofs are badly in need of replacement and would cost an estimated $1,200, he added.
Receipts did not change much from 1953. In 1954, income amounted to more than $35,500 but this included $10,000 in short term bonds which matured. Therefore, the figure in reality is approximately $25,500.

Operating expenses totaled more than $29,500. But more than $4,402 of this was for equipment purchased with sewage department funds and repaid in 1955.
Therefore, the "real" figures should amount to this: income $25,500—expenditures, $25,100 or only a working margin of approximately $400!
Included also in the expenditures is $1,000 in fees paid to the engineering firm of Burgess and Niple, of Columbus. The firm, at the present time, is also completing a two-year survey on the city's sewage treatment plant. All of Leist's suggestions will depend on the results of that survey.

THE 1955 BUDGET for the sewage department is slightly under $24,000. The 1954 budget was slightly under $25,000 but that included paying off the last $1,000 payable from revenue.
Finally, Leist commended the personnel at the sewage plant. He declared that they "have done an excellent job of maintenance" despite the large expansion the city has experienced.

(In the second article, the city's water department will be discussed.)

Record Bull Market Story Goes Beyond Wall Street

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of five articles on the working of the American Stock Market.

By RELMAN MORIN
NEW YORK (AP)—When you read about "the greatest bull market in history," you are looking at a story that goes beyond Wall Street.
The high averages and zooming prices reflect many factors.
Sure, some people are simply gambling. "Institutional buying" of stocks by big organizations has increased.
And there is the argument that the market today is only now catching up with the true values of many stocks and bonds.
But the figures reflect more than that.

They represent a massive chunk of confidence in at least the immediate future—and to some, the long-term outlook—for the whole American economy.
Since nobody can read the future, the only thing you can do is look at some present bases, the trends, and make your own projections.
For example, the population today is an estimated 163 million.
By 1975, the U.S. Census Bureau estimates, it will climb to 200 million. How many more pairs of shoes will the factories have to turn out then? How many more miles of textiles? How many more radios, refrigerators, automobiles? How much more food?

Take the question of housing. Herbert Abraham, chairman of the Ruberoid Co., recently wrote: "Since the current rate of family formation is about 700,000 a year, it is apparent that about 700,000 new units must be added annually, if our housing standards are to remain at present levels."
"And about 300,000 houses 'wear out' and are demolished annually, bringing the total basic need to about one million units per year."

The gross national product for 1954 is estimated at 350 billion dollars. (GNP means the total value of all goods and services produced.) In his economic message, President Eisenhower called for a GNP of 500 billion by 1965. The National Assn. of Manufacturers estimates 700 billion by 1975.
Sound like overreaching? Here's a sober statement from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce: "There has been a more or less continuous upward trend in the output of American industry. Various estimates of the rate of increase in production have put it at 3 or 4 per cent more per annum."
A powerful factor in the whole staggering picture is this: The average American is a "wanter." Call it keeping up with the Joneses if you like, but he is forever wanting something new or better than what he has, whether it's a house, an automobile, a can opener, or a wider TV screen.

He will put himself in hock to get it too. And then work like fury to keep up the installment payments. His wants are limited only by his buying power and credit. And he has the buying power.
Then there's "research."

A New York Stock Exchange estimate puts the figure for industrial research and development in 1954 at about four billion dollars—adding that that is 345 per cent greater than the sum spent in 1941.

A steady stream of new or improved products are coming out of the laboratories every year. They create new jobs and new wealth.

For example, Du Pont spent eight years and 25 million dollars developing a synthetic fibre. Marketed now, it has created 2,800 jobs in the plant.

Doubtless you have heard the word "automation." Maybe you have seen whole plants operated by machines. Or a drill press controlled by a piece of perforated tape.

Now look around the map of the United States. Barely more than 20 years ago, the Southern states were described as the nation's "No. 1 economic problem." Today, with research and new industries, the South is rapidly catching up with the rest of the country in spite of the general boom.

A submarine powered by atomic energy went to sea last week. The atomic age in industry appears to be on the near horizon. It has been said that this will bring about "a second industrial revolution." The first one changed the face of the earth.

So the future stretches away, apparently limitless, unimaginably brilliant, barely glimpsed in all its immense potentialities.

The "greatest bull market in history," in some degree, mirrors this. But over the stock market today still hangs the black shadow of 1929 and the greatest crash in history.

"A glorious economic future may be ours, but it is not vouchsafed to us," the President told the Congress last week. "We shall achieve it only by wise management of our national household."

Child Is Given To Grandmother

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—A common pleas judge has decided an international custody tangle by giving custody of nine-year-old Rose Marie Cropper to her grandmother.
The child's mother, Mrs. Grace Providence Catania Laurent of Tunis, Tunisia, had petitioned the court to take custody of the child from the grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Cropper of Portsmouth.
Judge Smith had been under a writ of mandamus signed by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court, directing him to reach a decision by Feb. 19.

Winter Boosts Chances Of Fire On Farms

Farm fires—estimated to cost over 3,000 lives and about $142 million this year—present their gravest threat in the winter.

This fact is borne out in a survey conducted in one mid-western state, showing that although there are over 10 buildings on the average farm in that state, 64 per cent of the damage by fire is to the dwelling, and over 75 per cent of dwelling fires were caused by flues and heating systems, or sparks on roofs—both winter hazards.

To protect your farm against fire this winter, the National Board of Fire Underwriters suggests the following principal precautions:

1. If your roof is shingled with wood, be sure the shingles are in good condition and that there are spark arresters on your chimneys.
2. See that chimneys are in good condition. Every fall, they should be inspected, particularly at the roof line, and cleaned. Repair cracks with cement mortar. Entry into the attic is necessary for a thorough inspection job.

3. STOVES, furnaces, ranges and fireplaces should be kept clean. Furnaces and wood stoves should be at least 18 inches from walls, beams or woodwork unless the latter are properly insulated. Stovepipes should not run through attics or concealed spaces. A stovepipe which runs through a combustible partition should be equipped with a double metal ventilated thimble.

a foot larger in diameter than the pipe.
4. Fireplaces should be equipped with sturdy metal screens.
5. Keep portable oil heaters on a level surface, away from furniture, draperies and other combustibles. Never fill one while it is lighted. Keep the fuel supply outdoors and refill heaters there. When one is burning, keep a window or door slightly open to provide an adequate oxygen supply. Any gas heater should be equipped with a vent to carry the fumes outside the house.

'Glass' Trinket Worth $1,200

DETROIT (AP)—High school friends of Lillian Dzialak were impressed by the oversized setting in the ring she has been wearing to school the last few days.

Lillian, 17, agreed it was quite a rock all right, but explained it was nothing but glass. She had found the ring in a paper bag along with some dollar earrings she had bought at a jewelry store. But she took back the ring and found store employees in a dither. A $1,200 diamond ring was missing.

It was the one Lillian had found in the paper bag.
She still got her bonus, though. The grateful store owner gave her $50 worth of costume jewelry.

"When I accepted your invitation to participate in a discussion of Sinclair Lewis and 'Main Street,' I assumed you expected me to speak my own words. I decline to deliver words written by some one else on any subject, much less one I know so well as I do this one. Editing some one else's script is not the answer."

I wish he had stuck to that. They could have found someone else to talk on Lewis, maybe someone who never knew him and never read "Main Street" and therefore could be wholly objective. As objectivity and not knowledge is the current measure of correctness, to say nothing of scholarship, the less one knows, the more nearly his position is likely to conform to the moderation which is now so popular.

Sinclair Lewis lacked the quality of moderation in his private life as in his novels. Had he received a script from the Library of Congress, he probably would have eaten the scripts and speeded it on the steps of the Library, with reporters present.

Young pigs will grow and grow as pigs never grew before if they are fed
NEW Red ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS
Creep feed these vitamin packed pellets to young pigs at 5 days of age. Your pigs will reach early weaning at 4 to 5 weeks, maintain rapid growth — and soon be on their profit way to pork chops.
RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS help to grow young pigs in a hurry for this reason: they supplement the sow's milk, and supply additional vitamins and antibiotics which permit the litter to be weaned earlier without setbacks in growth. The high antibiotics and vitamin levels in RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS help prevent scouring, insure against anemia and develop vigor.
Pigs fed RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS grow more uniformly and reach market weights earlier. So, feed these pellets to your pigs. Remember, better pork profits come from better early feeding.

"The cost of operation of the sewage department too nearly approaches the annual revenue," Leist reported. "The board of public utilities is now preparing a revised schedule of sewer service charges for early presentation to City Council for their consideration."

LEIST ALSO pointed out that although the city of Circleville has greatly expanded in the same period of time, sewage rates have remained the same since they were put into effect in 1939. However, he estimated that the 1955 revenue would exceed the 1954 total.

One of the biggest problems concerns sludge. Leist has suggested a new sludge pump which handles Container Corp. waste to replace the old one at an approximate cost of $1,000. He backs up his proposal with the following figures:

Total sludge pumped for the city of Circleville in 1954—slightly more than 2 million gallons; total sludge pumped for Container Corp.—more than 7 1-3 million gallons.

Total of all waste pumped for Circleville in 1954—more than 181 3-8 million gallons; for Container Corp.—just over 191 million gallons. Leist explained that the one pump doing the work for Container Corp. is just worn out.

ANOTHER recommendation by Leist concerns covers for the Digesters at the sewage plant. The present roofs are badly in need of replacement and would cost an estimated $1,200, he added.

Receipts did not change much from 1953. In 1954, income amounted to more than $35,500 but this included $10,000 in short term bonds which matured. Therefore, the figure in reality is approximately $25,500.

Operating expenses totaled more than $29,500. But more than $4,402 of this was for equipment purchased with sewage department funds and repaid in 1955. Therefore, the "real" figures should amount to this: income $25,500—expenditures, $25,100 or only a working margin of approximately $400!

Included also in the expenditures is $1,000 in fees paid to the engineering firm of Burgess and Niple, of Columbus. The firm, at the present time, is also completing a two-year survey on the city's sewage treatment plant. All of Leist's suggestions will depend on the results of that survey.

THE 1955 BUDGET for the sewage department is slightly under $24,000. The 1954 budget was slightly under $25,000 but that included paying off the last $1,000 payable from revenue.

Finally, Leist commended the personnel at the sewage plant. He declared that they "have done an excellent job of maintenance" despite the large expansion the city has experienced.

(In the second article, the city's water department will be discussed.)

Record Bull Market Story Goes Beyond Wall Street

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of five articles on the working of the American Stock Market.

By REILMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—When you read about "the greatest bull market in history," you are looking at a story that goes beyond Wall Street.

The high averages and zooming prices reflect many factors.

Sure, some people are simply gambling. "Institutional buying" of stocks by big organizations has increased.

And there is the argument that the market today is only now catching up with the true values of many stocks and bonds.

But the figures reflect more than that.

They represent a massive chunk of confidence in at least the immediate future—and to some, the long-term outlook—for the whole American economy.

Since nobody can read the future, the only thing you can do is look at some present bases, the trends, and make your own projections.

For example, the population today is an estimated 163 million.

By 1975, the U.S. Census Bureau estimates, it will climb to 200 million. How many more pairs of shoes will the factories have to turn out then? How many more miles of textiles? How many more radios, refrigerators, automobiles? How much more food?

Take the question of housing. Herbert Abraham, chairman of the Ruberoid Co., recently wrote:

"Since the current rate of family formation is about 700,000 a year, it is apparent that about 700,000 new units must be added annually, if our housing standards are to remain at present levels."

"And about 300,000 houses 'wear out' and are demolished annually, bringing the total basic need to about one million units per year."

The gross national product for 1954 is estimated at 350 billion dollars. (GNP means the total value of all goods and services produced.) In his economic message, President Eisenhower called for a GNP of 500 billion by 1965.

The National Assn. of Manufacturers estimates 700 billion by 1975.

Sound like overreaching? Here's a sober statement from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce: "There has been a more or less continuous upward trend in the output of American industry. Various estimates of the rate of increase in production have put it at 3 or 4 per cent more per annum."

A powerful factor in the whole staggering picture is this:

The average American is a "wanter." Call it keeping up with the Joneses if you like, but he is forever wanting something new or better than what he has, whether it's a house, an automobile, a can opener, or a wider TV screen.

He will put himself in hook to get it too. And then work like fury to keep up the installment payments. His wants are limited only by his buying power and credit. And he has the buying power.

Then there's "research."

A New York Stock Exchange estimate puts the figure for industrial research and development in 1954 at about four billion dollars—adding that that is 345 per cent greater than the sum spent in 1941.

A steady stream of new or improved products are coming out of the laboratories every year. They create new jobs and new wealth.

For example, Du Pont spent eight years and 25 million dollars developing a synthetic fibre. Marketable now, it has created 2,800 jobs in the plant.

Doubtless you have heard the word "automation." Maybe you have seen whole plants operated by machines. Or a drill press controlled by a piece of perforated tape.

Now look around the map of the United States. Barely more than 20 years ago, the Southern states were described as the nation's "No. 1 economic problem." Today, with research and new industries, the South is rapidly catching up with the rest of the country in spite of the general boom.

A submarine powered by atomic energy went to sea last week. The atomic age in industry appears to be on the near horizon. It has been said that this will bring about "a second industrial revolution."

The first one changed the face of the earth.

So the future stretches away, apparently limitless, unimaginably brilliant, barely glimpsed in all its immense potentialities.

The "greatest bull market in history" in some degree, mirrors this. But over the stock market today still hangs the black shadow of 1929 and the greatest crash in history.

"A glorious economic future may be ours, but it is not vouchsafed to us," the President told the Congress last week. "We shall achieve it only by wise management of our national household."

Child Is Given To Grandmother

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—A common pleas judge has decided an international custody tangle by giving custody of nine-year-old Rose Marie Cropper to her grandmother.

The child's mother, Mrs. Grace Providence Catania Laurent of Tunis, Tunisia, had petitioned the court to take custody of the child from the grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Cropper of Portsmouth.

Judge Smith had been under a writ of mandamus signed by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court, directing him to reach a decision by Feb. 19.

Winter Boosts Chances Of Fire On Farms

Farm fires—estimated to cost over 3,000 lives and about $142 million this year—present their gravest threat in the winter.

This fact is borne out in a survey conducted in one mid-western state, showing that although there are over 10 buildings on the average farm in that state, 64 per cent of the damage by fire is to the dwelling, and over 75 per cent of dwelling fires were caused by flues and heating systems, or sparks on roofs—both winter hazards.

To protect your farm against fire this winter, the National Board of Fire Underwriters suggests the following principal precautions:

1. If your roof is shingled with wood, be sure the shingles are in good condition and that there are spark arresters on your chimneys.

2. See that chimneys are in good condition. Every fall, they should be inspected, particularly at the roof line, and cleaned. Repair cracks with cement mortar. Entry into the attic is necessary for a thorough inspection job.

3. STOVES, furnaces, ranges and fireplaces should be kept clean. Furnaces and wood stoves should be at least 18 inches from walls, beams or woodwork unless the latter are properly insulated. Stovepipes should not run through attics or concealed spaces. A stovepipe which runs through a combustible partition should be equipped with a double metal ventilated thimble.

4. Fireplaces should be equipped with sturdy metal screens.

5. Keep portable oil heaters on a level surface, away from furniture, draperies and other combustibles. Never fill one while it is lighted. Keep the fuel supply outdoors and refill heaters there. When one is burning, keep a window or door slightly open to provide an adequate oxygen supply. Any gas heater should be equipped with a vent to carry the fumes outside the house.

'Glass' Trinket Worth $1,200

DETROIT (AP)—High school friends of Lillian Dzialak were impressed by the oversized setting in the ring she has been wearing to school the last few days.

Lillian, 17, agreed it was quite a rock all right, but explained it was nothing but glass. She had found the ring in a paper bag along with some dollar earrings she had bought at a jewelry store. But she took back the ring and found store employees in a dither. A $1,200 diamond ring was missing.

It was the one Lillian had found in the paper bag.

She still got her bonus, though. The grateful store owner gave her $50 worth of costume jewelry.

Young pigs will grow and grow as pigs never grew before if they are fed

NEW Red Rose PIG STARTER PELLETS

Creep feed these vitamin packed pellets to young pigs at 5 days of age. Your pigs will reach early weaning at 4 to 5 weeks, maintain rapid growth — and soon be on their profit way to pork chops.

RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS help to grow young pigs in a hurry for this reason: they supplement the sow's milk, and supply additional vitamins and antibiotics which permit the litter to be weaned earlier without setbacks in growth. The high antibiotics and vitamin levels in RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS help prevent scouring, insure against anemia and develop vigor.

Pigs fed RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS grow more uniformly and reach market weights earlier. So, feed these pellets to your pigs. Remember, better pork profits come from better early feeding.

Sokolsky's These Days

"When I accepted your invitation to participate in a discussion of Sinclair Lewis and 'Main Street,' I assumed you expected me to speak my own words. I decline to deliver words written by some one else on any subject, much less one I know so well as I do this one. Editing some one else's script is not the answer."

I wish he had stuck to that. They could have found someone else to talk on Lewis, maybe someone who never knew him and never read "Main Street" and therefore could be wholly objective. As objectivity and not knowledge is the current measure of correctness, to say nothing of scholarship, the less one knows, the more nearly his position is likely to conform to the moderation which is now so popular.

Sinclair Lewis lacked the quality of moderation in his private life as in his novels. Had he received a script from the Library of Congress, he probably would have eaten the scripts and spewed it on the steps of the Library, with reporters present.
